LONDON, Ont., May 7 — (CP)— A triple "excellent" presentation marked the second night of the Dominion Drama Festival last night as groups from Montreal, Edmonton and Toronto brought rounds of applause from a capacity audience and unending praise from Professor E. M. Jones of Saskatoon and Edmonton, the adjudicator.

THE PRODUCTIONS—two in English and one in French—were evenly matched in their excellence of presentation and Professor Jones, in making his adjudication, found few faults with any of the plays. The entries were the Edmonton Community Theatre in William Saroyan's "My Heart's in the Highlands"; "How Death Came to the World," an Indian spirit legend presented by the Caravan Players of Toronto; and two acts of Moliere's farcical comedy, "Le Medecin Maigre Lui."

THE EDMONTON group opened the night's festivities and achieved an "enormously well" presented effort with perfect understanding of the Saroyan almost-surrealist play. The adjudicator had nothing but good words for every member of the cast and singled out especially Jack Wilson, the lead part of Ben Alexander "the world's greatest unknown poet"; 11-year-old Stewart Kerby as his son

Woman Charged With Axe Murder

MEDICINE HAT, Alta., May 7— (CP)—Charged with the axe murder here a week ago of Peter Nemyj, 47-year-old section man, Mrs. Adeleia Koenig, 41, was taken into custody by city police at 10.45 p.m. last night.

Nemyj, his skull battered in and his throat slit, was found slain in a bedroom of the dwelling where he lived with Mrs. Koenig last Monday morning. In the bedroom, police said they found a blood-stained night gown, and in another part of the dwelling behind some crates a blood-stained axe.

Mrs. Koenig who had been living at a downtown apartment house since Nemyj's body was discovered was lodged in city police cells. Police said she had made no statement.

Mrs. Koenig appeared in police court today and was remanded to May 15.

Stern Holy Land Measures Hinted

By HOMER JENKS

LONDON, May 7—(BUP)—Colonial Secretary Arthur Creech Jones hinted in Commons today that the British were considering the possibility of imposing collective fines and widespread martial law in Palestine to counter Jewish underground activity.

Gen. Sir George Jeffreys, Conservative, demanded martial law in all Jewish settlements, collective fines, and the removal of prominent Jewish citizens as hostages in "localities in which outrages are perpetrated."

Avoiding a direct reply to Jeffreys' demand for drastic action, Creech Jones said:

"It is for the High Commissioner (in Palestine) to consider, in consultation with military authorities and in the light of events whether the situation calls for introduction of military administration in any particular area.

JERUSALEM, May 7—(AP) — Police said today than an assailant fired a single pistol shot at an armored car in the outskirts of Natanya during the night and escaped under heavy fire.

Official sources said 195 of the 216 convicts who escaped Sunday from prison still remained at large, the number including 166 Arabs and 29 Jews.

Encouraging Tests Made At Leduc Well

Continued indications that the Imperial Oil Company's drilling program in the Leduc area may result in Northern Alberta becoming another "Turner Valley" occurred Tuesday night when Nos. 2 and 3 shafts shot forth flares and on test produced a considerable showing of gas and oil.

SIGHT OF THE flames from the two drilling sites gave rise to wild rumors that the wells had "come in" and were producing, but company officials spiked this speculation.

"They are not in production yet, but indications of good porosity and drainage observed in the tests are exceedingly encouraging," one official said.

Previously officials were beginning to doubt the possibilities of the No. 2 hole after passing 5,066 feet (depth at which the discovery well began to flow) and for research purposes had decided to go down to the limit of their drill's length—6,500 feet.

STILL CONSERVATIVE in their predictions regarding either No. 2 or No. 3, officers of the company nevertheless had difficulty in restraining optimism when the former gushed forth a heavy volume of gas at the 5,381 level late Tuesday night.

At the No. 3 hole tests had been conducted frequently from the 4,954-foot level until a shaft of gas

Seek Bar Jaques From United States

NEW YORK, May 7.—(CP)—The New York Post said today in a newspage story that the anti-defamation league of B'nai B'rith has asked the state department in Washington to bar entry to the United States of Norman Jaques, Social Credit member of the Canadian parliament for Wetaskiwin.

The Post said the organization sent a letter to State Secretary Marshall describing Jaques as a "notorious anti-Semite who has abused his privilege of entry into the United States by stirring up misunderstanding and tensions among racial and religious groups."

The newspaper quoted the league as saying Jaques had addressed "nationalist" rallies in various parts of the United States recently with Gerald L. K. Smith, leader of the newly-organized Christian National Crusade.

Smith told a press conference here yesterday that the crusade's 10-point program includes preservation of the United States as a Christian nation, exposure of Communism and the "safeguarding of America against the menace of bureaucratic fascism."

At Ottawa, Mr. Jaques said he had heard nothing concerning his proposed ban on his entry into the United States, and added, "I don't have to defend my actions." He described the Anti-Defamation League as "only a part of the Zionist terrorists who have been making such trouble in Palestine," and said the terrorists were "working for world terror here again, in other countries."

"They are also a part of the Communist front, and blackmail and defamation of character are part of their work."

He would continue to attack, as a member of parliament, "any enemy of freedom in this country or any other country."

All-Out Support Urged For Greek Relief Fund

All-out support on the part of all Canadians during the current Relief to Greece campaign was urged Wednesday by Chief Justice Horace Harvey, acting lieutenant-governor of Alberta, during the absence from this city of His Hon. J. C. Bowen, honorary vice-chairman of the campaign committee for Northern Alberta.

OF THE NATIONAL Canadian objective of $1,500,000, northern Albertans are being asked to subscribe $40,000 during the drive, which will continue until May 23. First returns from central and northern Alberta were received Wednesday.

Chief Justice Harvey said:

"When we think of Ancient Greece and the debt that our civilization and culture owe to it, and when we recall the valiant struggle that modern Greece made against the aggression of Germany and Italy and the suffering endured in support of the Allied cause, and its present effort to sustain its very existence as an independent nation, the misery and distress of so many of its people at the present time make an irresistible call for our

Record Quake

SYDNEY, Australia, May 7. — (AP)—The seismograph at the Riverview observatory here today recorded a severe earthquake which Father D. D. O'Connor, director of the observatory, occurred about 2,000 miles of Sydney. It was the third recorded in the Southwest Pacific in the last three days.

To Make Canada One of World's Wealthiest Countries

Member of House Makes Impassioned Call For Development of Alberta's Vast Resources

OTTAWA, May 7 — (CP)— An impassioned call for development of Alberta's "immense" resources was sounded in the Commons Tuesday by Joseph Dechene (L-Athabasca) who maintained that province alone could make Canada one of the wealthiest and most self-contained countries in the world.

CHAMPIONING the pioneer spirit and achievements of its people, he called for support from eastern members, not with any "hat in hand" attitude, he said, as a just and wise step in the light of what "a great people and a great province" had done and could do.

Mr. Dechene said a great discovery of oil had recently been made south of Edmonton. He had often tried to impress upon the eastern potentialities of the Athabasca regions tar sands.

Alberta had prospects which "slagger the imagination." She had coal and oil in great abundance. He said: "If we develop the resources of Alberta alone, the minister of finance in a few years need have no fears of a surplus."

THERE WAS NO CALL for despair about the future of that province with a population less than that of Montreal.

Its homesteaders had "broken their backs" to clear the land of

Ontario Liberals To Choose Leader

TORONTO, May 7 —(CP)— The names of a Grey County farmer and a Brockville lawyer figured most prominently in speculation today about whom Ontario Liberals are likely to name as provincial leader of the party at their convention here May 15 and 16.

Most observers look on the farmer, 45-year-old Farquhar Oliver, house leader of the Liberal opposition in the Ontario legislature, as the most probable choice for the position left vacant after the Ontario general election of 1945 by the resignation of Mitchell F. Hepburn.

Others said that the lawyer, Don Lewis, 46-year-old veteran of two wars and a former mayor of Brockville, stood out as the strongest dark horse possibility.

Indications are that the convention will have a large field to pick from. Mr. Oliver and William Grant and Allan Lamport of Toronto all have indicated their names will go before the convention. Mr. Lewis has not made any announcement but it is reported he will be nominated. Another possibility is Colin Campbell, Toronto mining consultant who acted as Ontario minister of public works in 1930 to go to war.

UN Act To Give Arabs Hearing

LAKE SUCCESS, NY, May 7 (BUP)—The United Nations knuckled under to a threatened boycott of the Palestine debate by the Arab higher committee today and voted to call an extraordinary plenary session for the sole purpose of inviting the Arab body to appear.

The political committee approved, by a vote of 28 to 5, an Indian resolution calling for delegates to meet in the same room but to sit as a plenary session of the general assembly.

French Socialists Support Red Ouster

PARIS, May 7—(AP)—The National council of the French Socialist party decided today by a 2,529-to-2,125 vote that Premier Paul Ramadier's coalition cabinet from which the Communists have been ousted should remain in office. The vote followed a seven-hour discussion climaxed by speeches by Ramadier and former premier Leon Blum. Both Socialist leaders asked that the present government be maintained in power. Ramadier said: "If the national council demanded I resign, I would sign tomorrow my letter of resignation and submit it to Vincent Auriol (president of the republic) but in doing so I would feel as if I were signing the abdication of the republic."

Charges Bring Some Debris To Surface

VANCOUVER, May 7 (CP) —Demolition charges, released from a power launch, raised unidentified debris to the surface of the Gulf of Georgia today as plans were made to start diving operations in seach of the missing Trans-Canada airliner which disappeared more than a week ago with 15 persons aboard.

Tidal flotsam made it difficult to make immediate identification, but naval searchers said a bit of cloth raised appeared to be part of the type of overalls worn by fishermen.

Several oil slicks, sighted after the demolition charges were set off, were of the type commonly caused by boats.

AIR OBSERVERS also reported that the underwater explosions had left a long curving arc of white fragments which looked like paper on the water.

The charges were set off close to where an "undetermined contact" had been made with anti-submarine detection equipment.

The frigate HMCS Antigonish made the "contact" after a wide sweep in the gulf off the southeast coast of Gabriola Island.

Preparations for diving operations were underway, but it was not likely work would be possible before the tide is slack because of rocky sea bottom and the strong currents close to shore.

Report Sharp Dip In CPR Earnings

MONTREAL, May 7—(CP)—Net earnings for the first quarter of 1947 were the smallest recorded in any comparable three-month period since 1935, W. M. Neal, chairman and president of the Canadian Pacific Railway company told the company's shareholders at the annual general meeting here today.

A SHARP INCREASE in working expenses due to some extent to abnormal snow conditions contributed to the decrease in net earnings but "it derived principally from further increases in wage rates and material costs that have developed since a year ago."

Mr. Neal expressed confidence that the freight rate hearings at

Three In Family Shooting Victims

TORONTO, May 7—(CP)—Robert E. Easson was arrested by police on a charge of wounding today after his wife, daughter and son were shot at their home in northwest Toronto. Mrs. Easson, 55, and the son, 20-year-old Gordon, are in serious condition with abdominal wounds. The daughter, 20-year-old Mabel, suffered an elbow wound. Police said that Corporal William Nichol, a Royal Canadian Mounted Police officer who lives next door to the Eassons, was awakened at 3:30 a.m. when two other daughters, both unharmed, ran from the house.

Discuss Social Welfare

Expect Ottawa Call New Dom.-Prov. Talks

By D'Arcy O'Donnell

OTTAWA, May 7 —(CP)— The federal government likely will give new consideration to the possibility of calling a Dominion-provincial conference to discuss national health, social welfare and public investment matters as a result of representations by provincial premiers in the last two days, it was learned last night.

PREMIERS DOUGLAS of Saskatchewan and Hart of British Columbia have made verbal requests for a conference to federal cabinet ministers, but they and the ministers have been silent on the stand taken by the Dominion.

One federal source said that as far as he was concerned the position was unchanged from July, 1946, when Prime Minister Mackenzie King stated:

"As soon as there is sufficient acceptance of the proposed tax agreements we shall be ready to explore in a general conference or otherwise the possibility of working out mutually satisfactory agreements

Strike Agitator Again Arrested

LACHUTE, Que., May 7 (CP)— Arrested for the third time in five days, Madeleine Parent, Canadian organizer for the United Textile Workers of America (AFL), faced a new count today of influencing employes to go on strike, thus violating their union contract.

This was the charge provincial police laid against Miss Parent when they re-arrested her last night, shortly after she and other union officials had been freed on $2,000 bail after arraignment on other charges arising from strikes at the Ayers Limited Textile mill here and its subsidiary of the Dominion Shuttle Company.

Employes of both companies are demanding a 15 cents an hour wage increase, six legal holidays a year and a union shop provision.

King Will Protect Barbara's Interests

OTTAWA, May 7—(CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King said today in the Commons he would "be the first to do everything possible to protect" the interests of Barbara Ann Scott of Ottawa, world figure skating champion. He was replying to Karl Homuth (PC-Waterloo South) who asked if the government had or would cable Canada's Games committee to see that Miss Scott's interests were not affected by the controversy that has arisen as a result of the acceptance of a motor car from the City of Ottawa.

West Not By-Passed On Freight Cars

By JOHN LEBLANC

OTTAWA, May 7.—(CP)—Western grain growers have not been by-passed in the provision of freight cars to handle their product, a Canadian National Railways official told the Board of Transport Commissioners today.

Stanley F. Dingle, CNR chief of transportation, rejected a suggestion that the railway might have passed up low-rate grain traffic in favor of more lucrative hauls of manufactured products. He was testifying at the national freight-rate inquiry.

Questioned by C. H. Locke, British Columbia counsel, Mr. Dingle declared the CNR's "car shortages" for handling western grain, running up to 2,000 daily, were caused by lack of rolling stock.

At Least 3 Killed In UK Mine Blast

BARNSLEY, Yorkshire, Eng., May 7 — (AP) — At least three miners were killed today and six others were missing and believed trapped in an explosion in Barnsley's biggest coal mine. Twenty-five injured men were taken to hospital and reports blamed a short circuit in an electric line for the blast. It was the first disaster in British mines since the government took over ownership last Jan. 1.

Ship's Disappearance Mystery of Sea

RANGOON, May 7 —(AP)— The loss of the 1,000-ton ship Sir Harvey Adamson, which disappeared in the Andaman Sea off the Burma coast three weeks ago with 250 persons aboard, was written off today as another "unsolved mystery of the sea." The search for the vessel and the persons aboard was closed officially, with searchers having failed to find a single clue as to the tiny coastal vessel's fate.

Gambling Raid

VANCOUVER, May 7—(CP)— In one of the largest gambling raids in this city's history, 130 men were arrested and charged with gambling offences when a 50-man police squad converged on a downtown sporting club here last night.

May Be Able to Keep It

Barbara Ann Gift-Car Status Still Up in Air

MONTREAL, May 7 —(CP)— Barbara Ann Scott may be able to keep her cream-colored convertible automobile given her by her native Ottawa after she won the world figure skating championship, but a statement last night by Avery Brundage, president of the United States Olympic Games Committee, only added to the general confusion.

BRUNDAGE, the man who started it all, said in Santa Barbara, Calif., that there might be "extenuating circumstances" which would clear Barbara Ann of violating amateur rules in accepting the car as a gift from the city. But he didn't make clear whether it was all right for her to keep the car, or whether her announced intention of returning the car to the donors would serve her to retain her amateur status.

The part that puzzled most people was that first Barbara Ann was told by amateur authorities when the car was presented on her return from Stockholm that it was all right to accept the gift and now Brundage fails to explain if she would be allowed to keep the car or just be allowed to compete in the Olympics because the car was returned.

SAID BRUNDAGE: "My personal opinion would be that if the girl in regard to the whole or any part of our earlier public investment and social security proposals."

THE OFFICIAL said it would be technically possible but unlikely that the Dominion would enter health, welfare and public investment agreements with all provinces if it had taxation agreements with only six or seven provinces.

The whole health, welfare and investment programs depended on a control of tax fields that would prevent conflict in such fields.

So far six provinces—British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island—have or are about to ratify taxation agreements with the Dominion.

These agreements were in sight several weeks ago when Mr. King said in the Commons that the government felt the conditions under which it had agreed to call a conference on other than taxation matters had not yet been fulfilled.

SINCE THEN there have been reports that Ontario, Quebec, Nova Scotia and the Dominion have been carrying on taxation negotiations at "below the cabinet level" and that an early settlement of differences was expected.

Both Premier Drew of Ontario and Premier Duplessis of Quebec denied the reports.

Ottawa would bring recognition of the need for higher rates.

Last October, the company joined with other Canadian railway companies in applying to the Board of Transport Commissioners for Canada for authority to make a general increase of 20 per cent in freight rates within Canada, with the reception of the statutory grain rates and a partial exception in the rates on coal.

"HEARINGS ON applications are doing much to focus attention upon the critical situation into which the railways have been forced by reason of mounting costs and rigidly controlled rates," he said.

"In every other country in the world, so far as is known, the level of railway charges had been raised in the process of adjusting to the changed price relationships prevailing in the post-war period."

Dealing with the place of the Canadian Pacific in the Canadian and the world scene, Mr. Neal said 75,000 employes, 90,000 shareholders, many thousands of suppliers of materials and services and millions of customers for the company's world-wide services are affected by its well being.

RECONCILIATION of the obligation to provide the public with adequate and efficient transportation at reasonable rates, ensure a reasonable return to shareholders and provide employes with steady employment at fair compensation was "a task of extreme difficulty in the present transition period."

accepted the car after being told that it would be all right—and I have heard that she was given this advice by a competent authority—such an extenuating circumstance might clear up the matter."

He gave the opinion after being told that Barbara Ann's mother, Mrs. Clyde Scott, had announced the car would be returned to the donating city so her pretty 18-year-old daughter would not be ruled ineligible for the 1948 Olympic Games.

Whether Barbara Ann keeps the car will depend on the ruling of J. S. Edstrum, president of the International Olympic Committee at Stockholm, who requested the Canadian Olympic Association to forward a report on the matter. Brundage had filed his objection with the president of the international body.

A statement by the Canadian Olympic Association after a closed meeting here yesterday said the committee had brought to the attention of Mrs. Scott the Olympic rules regarding amateur status, and had been informed by her that Barbara Ann would "take steps to return the automobile" immediately on returning to the capital from a visit in London, Ont.

MAYOR STANLEY LEWIS of Ottawa and other capital city sportsmen were sharp in their criticism of Brundage's action. Mayor Lewis said the incident "represents a new low in sport" and the city of Ottawa would accept "with deep regret" the return of the automobile.

"The Dominion government should take some action on this," he added.

At London, Barbara Ann said "I would be selfish of me to keep the car and lose a chance to bring honor to Canada at the Olympic Games."

OTTAWA, May 7—(CP)—C. H. Cumming, past president of Ottawa's Minto Skating Club, said last night that if Barbara Ann Scott were declared a professional because she accepted a car from the city, all the amateur skaters who competed at the North American meet she won here last month, also could lose their standing and therefore be barred from the Olympics.

"PERSONALLY, I don't think the Olympic Committee would go that far," said the executive of the club where Barbara Ann began her skating career at seven.

He explained that under the amateur code any amateur contestant who enters into competition with or against a professional can lose his or her amateur standing.

(Gretchen Merrill, the American star whom Barbara Ann defeated at Stockholm, did not enter the North American championships here).

Dragnet Extended For E. B. Bottles

POSSES ORGANIZE FOR SEARCH IN ALBERTA RURAL CENTRES

The dragnet for E. B. Bottles, alias "Empties", widened today as search extends to Alberta's many towns and villages.

E. B. Bottles, commonly known as empty Beer Bottles, became the subject of this intensive hunt following disappearance from essential duty in the bottling and brewing industry. Citizens are co-operating in an all-out effort to see that this culprit is brought to justice and returned to work so that the demand for Brewery products can be met.

It is believed that "Empties" may be lying low in basements, closets, attics, garages, or other places about the home, and for this reason, the co-operation of housewives in aiding the search is particularly requested.

Cash Reward Offered

Housewives in cities, towns, and villages are urged to search their premises throughout. In the event of apprehension, Deliveries Limited should be notified at once. They have arranged to take "Empties" into custody—pay 20 cents per dozen cash reward on the spot and provide escort to the nearest bottle depot.

Rural citizens, who may come across "Empties" can have him escorted, freight collect to the nearest Deliveries Limited depot and cash reward will be mailed immediately he is in custody. Depots are located at Canmore, Banff, Calgary, Edmonton, Blairmore, Medicine Hat, Drumheller and Lethbridge. McLennan is nearest depot for Peace River District.

CNR To Try Out Diesel Engines

OTTAWA, May 7 —(CP)—Diesel locomotives will be tried out next month on passenger runs on three of the Canadian National Railways' main lines the Board of Transport Commissioners was informed Tuesday at the national freight-rate inquiry.

The experiment, using newly-purchased engines due for delivery this month, will be staged on the Chicago-Toronto, Toronto-Montreal and Montreal-Halifax runs, Stanley F. Dingle, CNR chief of transportation, told the board.

LONDON, Ont., May 7 (CP)—Among the dozens of actors and actresses of the Canadian amateur theatre world who are treading the boards of the Grand Theatre here this week in the Dominion drama festival, one declared with not a second's hesitation: "I want to be a professional actor."

Peter Kerby, from Edmonton, is 11 years old and he is fair, tall and slim to suit his role as poet's son in William Saroyan's "My Heart's in the Highlands" which the Edmonton Community Theatre presented last night.

UNABASHEDLY he welcomes the festival performance because it took him out of school for a week and helped him avoid examinations. He was doubtful that his teacher in sixth grade would count the acting as credits toward promotion—but he's keeping his fingers crossed.

Acting is his first love and all his spare hours are devoted to it. He gathers the children from his neighbourhood and puts them through the paces of plays he writes. Playwright, director, actor —all come within Stewart's realm.

He sticks entirely to acting and writing as hobbies. Asked whether he played any musical instruments or sang, he replied, "No, I just act."

LONDON, Ont., May 7 (CP)—Lack of suitable buildings to rehearse and produce plays in their own home towns is the one major worry of most drama groups here this week for the Dominion drama festival.

Representatives of most of the groups concur with the statement made by professor Emrys Maldwyn Jones of the University of Saskatchewan, festival adjudicator, that the greatest lack of the legitimate theatre in Canada—both amateur and professional—is the lack of theatre buildings.

JACK WILSON of Edmonton, playing the lead in the Edmonton Community Theatre's entry, "My Heart's in The Highlands," by William Saroyan, described the auditoria the group now uses since in 1946 it lost the theatre it had used for years.

Wilson said the group was forced to use facilities without stages to present their performances since the City of Edmonton as a community made no effort to buy the theatre used by them when it was turned into a night club.

MISSING BOYS RETURN SAFELY

Tears for the safety of three boys on a camping trip were put at ease when the lads turned home. One had cut his foot, but his pals had bandaged and dressed it with Zam-Buk carried in a First-Aid Kit. "I'm sure glad I took my First-Aid Kit with Zam-Buk Ointment along," one freckle-faced lad declared.

Because this antiseptic herbal ointment is so safe to use, many parents train their children to apply Zam-Buk quickly in case of cuts, burns, bruises, sprains. Keep Zam-Buk in your medicine chest always. Remember—a little foresight may save a lot of trouble.

ZAM-BUK, the healing, antiseptic ointment with dozens of home uses, is effective for all kinds of sores, aching feet and sore, red hands. It soon by all druggists. 3-3

"Big Business Budget"

Fire Opening Rounds In Attack on Budget

By George Kitchen

OTTAWA, May 7 —(CP)— A vigorous, three-party attack on the government for failure to remove or reduce indirect taxes in the 1947-48 budget developed in the Commons yesterday as the traditional budget debate was opened.

SPOKESMEN FROM the Progressive Conservative, CCF and Social Credit benches criticized he administration on the grounds it had confined its tax relief to income tax rates and thereby had provided no benefit for the 2,000,000 wage-earners who made no contribution through "hidden and nuisance" taxes.

The criticism was supported by customary want-of-confidence motions moved by the Progressive Conservative and CCF parties in the form of amendments to the main motion to go into committee stage on the budget resolutions.

The Progessive Conservative motion, moved by J. M. Macdonald, opposition financial critic, and member for Muskoka-Ontario, expressed regret that budget proposals "offer no relief from the oppressive burden of indirect and hidden taxes on staple necessities that compose the family budget, all of which taxes directly increase the cost-of-living."

IT ALSO CRIT.CIZED the government for failure to re-convene the Dominion-provincial conference and for offering no encouragem nt to those engaged in the development of natural resources, especially mining and agriculture.

The CCF sub-amendment, moved by M. J. Coldwell, party leader, referred to the government's failure to raise the basic income tax exemption levels and to make provision for "the more than half of our population who are compelled to live on incomes below the present exemption levels."

Solon Low, Social Credit leader, whose group is prevented by house rules from moving such a motion at this time, said the retention of indirect taxes meant for those below the income-tax paying wage brackets "nothing" except "higher living costs" for some months to come.

LAUNCHING THE budget debate, Mr. Macdonnell said he welcomed what Finance Minister Abbott did for those with "middle" incomes of from $3,000 to $7,500 yearly but added that the "great class" of the community that was affected mainly by indirect taxation found their position "worsened."

Mr. Macdonnell expressed regret that the excess profits tax was not being lifted until the year-end and said this had induced business to "hold back" at a time when it should not hold back. Something also should be done to encourage new industries.

Mr. Coldwell said the budget was "disappointing" because it did not relieve the man in the lower income brackets from burdens imposed "by the government policy of rising prices caused by the removal of desirable controls" and did not plan for the future of the Canadian people.

TERMING THE BUDGET a "big business budget," he estimated that personal income tax reductions would total $70,000,000 compared with cuts of $279,000,000 in excess profits taxes.

Mr. Coldwell urged immediate repayment of the refundable portion of income taxes collected during the war and said consumers and merchants alike could make good use of this money.

He also called for the establishment of a national investment board to operate under a statute defining its responsibilities and powers. At present, there was no adequate machinery to direct investment into desirable socially useful and effective channels.

Says U.S. Faces Shortage of Gas

WASHINGTON, May 7.—(AP)—Interior Secretary Krug said yesterday that the United States is confronted with "a really serious petroleum problem" and may have a gasoline shortage within a year or 18 months. Krug made this statement in asking a Senate appropriations sub-committee to recommend more money for his department than the $161,413,513 the House of Representatives voted it. Krug protested particularly house elimination of money for the oil and gas division which, he said, is the only government agency working with industry to solve shortage problems.

Newspaper "Ad" Locates Mother

LANCASTER, Pa., May 7.—(AP)—An advertisement inserted in a Canadian Mennonite paper distributed in Europe will pay off for Henry Loewen of nearby Leacock when his mother walks down the gang plank of the USS Marine Marlin in New York today. Loewen, separated from his mother, Mrs. Helen Loewen, 73, about 21 years ago, located her in a displaced persons camp outside of Berlin through the advertisement. Loewen last saw his mother in 1926 when he left their home in the Ukraine to go to Siberia to teach school.

Select July 6 Day of Prayer

LONDON, May 7 —(AP)— A government statement announced last night that the King has designated Sunday, July 6, as a national day of prayer and dedication to God "in view of the tasks and duties which the nation is called to meet." In a joint statement issued simultaneously with the announcement, the Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, and the Archbishop of York, Dr. Cyril Garbett, called upon every citizen to "prepare himself for that day by serious thought."

Leduc Wells

flashed up Tuesday night from the 3,016-level.

THE No. 1 WELL, which came into production more than two months ago with an original uncontrolled volume of more than 400 barrels, was turned back into controlled flow on Monday after it had been closed off when the spring thaw and rains made roads impassable for transport of the crude from storage tanks at the oil site.

Despite the encouraging showing in Tuesday's tests drilling will continue in both holes and core tests and sampling will be made at more frequent intervals.

In the case of both drilling sites, officials, geologists and workmen are now "alerted" and are standing by hopefully for dramatic events which may occur at any hour.

The No. 1 well Tuesday was producing at the rate of 92 barrels controlled flow. This will probably be increased as road conditions improve.

Drilling is proceeding at the company's No. 4 and No. 5 sites, but so far no strong indications have been noted at either.

Plane Search

ing buoy to mark the "contact" spot and today diving tender No. 2 and the big ocean-going tug Heatherton took over the hunt.

Before actual diving operations start, the Heatherton must complete soundings. Echo-sounding equipment will be used to determine the depth of contact.

The contact report revived hopes that the mystery of the missing plane might soon be solved. Gabriola Island residents reported several days ago that on the night the aircraft was reported missing —only three minutes before it was scheduled to land at Vancouver's Sea Island airport — they had sighted a low-flying plane off the coast of their island.

A NANAIMO fisherman said that he had received a radio message on a small set in his craft which ended with the words "there is water all around us."

These two reports, coupled with the frigate's as yet unknown findings yesterday, crystalized the belief that the aircraft had crashed into the gulf.

Search officials warned, however, against undue optimism, pointing out that many metallic objects are likely to be lying on the sea bed.

Successful Test

A successful test of gas manufacturing apparatus at the Alberta Oxygen and Acetylene company plant on 142 street, was conducted Tuesday, President Frank Smuck of the company, said Wednesday. The tests indicate that production rate of oxygen will run at 1,000 cubic feet per hour or 150 cylinders of welding gas per day.

First Instalment 1947 Taxes Paid

Taxpayers were lined up more than two-deep at the city assessor's counters Wednesday as they rushed to make their first instalment payment on 1947 taxes.

During the period May 1 to May 6 a total of $76,584.37 was paid on the first instalment, due May 16, compared with $68,993.67 for the same period last year, an increase of $7,590.70.

If the total of 1947 taxes, or any balance remaining due from a January prepayment, are paid on or before May 16, a discount of one per cent will be allowed on the total amount of the taxes, or on the amount of the balance.

Plan Uniformity Dairy Inspection

Improvement of service and greater uniformity in inspection methods were the key-notes of a two-day conference of inspectors and field men of the dairy branch, department of agriculture, which closed in the legislative buildings Tuesday evening.

Minor details effecting the operation of creameries were discussed and a few amendments to present regulations suggested. These are all of a minor nature, D. H. McCallum, diary commissioner, said and creameries will be notified of the changes.

The Tuesday afternoon sessions were attended by Dr. H. R. Thornton and Prof. F. W. Wood of the University of Alberta, who advised the dairy branch officials of scientific advances in the handling of milk, including the competitive values of various cleanser for equipment.

Cost of Building Holds Realty Price

High cost of building is acting as a brake on the potential volume of real estate business in Edmonton, according to the opinion of several prominent local realtors.

One official said Wednesday that in a recent conversation with a west coast lumber milling executive he was told that the reconstruction of Europe could take all the lumber produced in British Columbia for the next 10 years.

To this the Edmonton realtor said "it is my belief that while such a demand exists the cost of building will remain high."

He also said that many loan companies were now extending moneys on improved properties and that this fact indicated rising real estate prices had reached their peak.

He said prospective house buyers were beginning to move cautiously in that when they were advised of prices they indicated they would wait in the hope of buying at a lower figure later on.

Junior Farm Week Planned for Olds

Four representatives of Montana's 4H clubs will attend the Junior Club Week held by the Alberta junior farm groups at Olds commencing on July 7, R. Putnam Alberta director of extension said Wednesday morning.

The Alberta groups extended an invitation to their American counterparts last month and word was received Wednesday that two young men and two young women of the Montana groups would attend. They will be accompanied by J. C. Taylor, former director of extension for the state of Montana.

No More New Homes?

Officials of Housing Enterprises Limited said at Montreal that the organization will build no more houses or apartment buildings unless construction costs are set at a level at which the new homes would be within reach of veterans.

Resistance against rising rentals, they say, is threatening a Dominion-wide stoppage of house-building. At present costs, they declare, houses cannot be put up to rent at prices which veterans can pay.

This could have been said truthfully before the recent advance in lumber prices, which followed the cutting down of export quotas allowed to the manufacturers. This advance lifts newly-constructed homes just that much farther above the rental range of veterans and of all others who earn average incomes—or would if new homes were built out of these super-priced materials.

The question is directly raised whether the whole housing industry is to slow down to a small pace. Housing Enterprises says it will quit if this latest boost in lumber prices is reflected in tenders put in by contractors for the carrying out of new projects. Other concerns will have to do the same, and for the same reason.

Low-rental houses were not being constructed at the cost-level which prevailed before the new $10 to $12 hoist in the cost of lumber. This added penalty wipes out any fanciful idea that the thing was possible.

The housing problem in Canada is not how to supply $50 a month homes for well-to-do people. It is how to supply $25 a month homes for people who have only moderate incomes—and this group makes up 90 to 95 per cent of the families who have no homes. It includes all but a small minority of veterans, to whom the nation owes particular consideration. And it takes in a vast number of non-veterans who also fall below or not much above the exemption limits for personal income taxation.

Obviously the cost of building will have to come down; or the taxpayers will have to subsidize construction of houses and apartments. Those are the only ways to make homes obtainable by the masses who need homes. Unless one or other happens, there is no solution in sight for the problem, and no hope for the houseless. It is up to Ottawa to do something, and do it now.

Merchant Seamen

Ottawa is still being importuned by ex-members of the Canadian Merchant Marine for the same, or similar, benefits as those granted to members of the armed forces; notably vocational training, gratuities, re-establishment credits, disability pensions, and such.

What the official view is does not seem to have been stated. It may regard the ex-merchant seaman as not being a servant of the Crown but of the steamship line which employed him; consequently that his re-establishment is a matter of company policy and his pension or medical care something under the heading of employers' liability.

The fact remains, however, that without this "fourth arm" our troops could not have gone overseas or, having gone, could not have been fed or armed.

It was a heroic service, this merchant navy, but its spectacular value was low. A warship leaving port, bristling with guns, torpedoes in place, compels the landsman's awe; the merchantman punching her way against the Atlantic swell, unescorted and but lightly armed, if at all, seldom even awakened the imagination save of the understanding few.

"And Ye Visited Me"

A letter written to The Bulletin from a war veteran in Yellowknife provokes attention. Lately a patient in the Colonel Mewburn Pavilion, he commences by paying to medical and nursing staffs and the ward aids that tribute on which Mewburn's patients are unanimous.

He moves on to an expression of gratitude to the workers, mostly women, of organizations whose visits and gifts are sufficiently regular that the days, even the hours of their arrival can almost be foretold.

From there he goes on to write of the many patients in other hospitals who would have been war veterans but for a physical disability, possibly the very same which caused their present confinement to a ward. For these and all sick persons he bespeaks some of the kindness bestowed upon war veterans.

Here is a man who reacts to kindness as every person should: the happiness it brings to him overflows so that he cannot rest without pleading for its distribution amongst all sufferers.

It would be too much to ask that these organizations extend their bounty beyond the veterans' wards. Generally, they have difficulty enough in financing even that "luxury of well doing."

But why not an organization devoted to visiting all hospitals? There are many in these institutions—some of them have been there for months or even years—who have no friends living near enough to be able to visit them. If anyone objects that there is already a plethora of "organizations," it can be suggested that he or she could take up the work alone, simply as one who, like Abu-ben-Adhem, loves his fellow-men.

They are Good Workers

A member of the House of Commons—a Conservative member, if that has any bearing—says farmers in western Ontario wish the German prisoners-of-war could be sent back to them as farm hands. They cannot expect that to be done, but the wish has significance. They evidently found the prisoners able and willing workers.

There is nothing surprising in this, for in every province in Canada people of German descent have made excellent settlers and farm laborers. From the maritimes to the prairies, areas settled by such people are and always have been conspicuous for their progress, large production and high level of prosperity. It is one of the minor tragedies of the war that Canada has been unable to draw again upon the same source of labor at a time when the world is hungry and when young Canadians show a tendency to drift from the farms to the towns.

It is announced at Ottawa that immigration officials have been sent to Germany to sort out people of German origin but who are not citizens of that country—with a view to passing some of the former who desire to come to Canada. Presumably these are refugees who were driven out of Russia, Poland or Austria, and are now among the "displaced persons" in the Reich.

The sorting will have to be done with rare vigilance if some Nazis do not slip through the net. But if the sifting is well done, the Dominion should gain some industrious and enterprising recruits for its basic industry; and with no danger of introducing a disruptive element, for these non-Nazi refugees have good reason to hate everything that smacks of totalitarianism.

A traveling salesman who was injured when he slipped on the soap in a hotel bathroom failed to collect damages from his employers, the court holding that taking a bath was not part of his duties. It recalls the case of a chap who was fired for having his hair cut during his employers' time. He argued that it was during his employers' time his hair grew.

THE UNSEEN AUDIENCE

by Webster

Caesar's Ghost Walks

BY ELMORE PHILPOTT

There has been a new outburst of support for a so-called United States of Europe. This cause is endorsed by interests almost as far apart as Russia. A manifesto in its favor, signed by 81 prominent Americans, includes the Roman Catholic Bishop of Toledo, Norman Thomas the Socialist, Edgar Snowerer, Dorothy Thompson, H. V. Kaltenborn and

PHILPOTT

The academic arguments in favor of a federal union of Europe are considerable. But there are objections to such a merger at this time which are more important.

IT IS unnecessary to labor the advantages there would be if there was a single continent of Europe—with one trade area, one money, one democratic parliament, one army.

The main reason for the attainment in the U.S.A. of the highest level of prosperity that the world has ever seen is its genius. There was a single trading area for a whole continent—and that at a time when there literally was land for the taking from sea to sea.

For hundreds of years advanced thinkers have foreseen the union of Europe. Rather I should say "re-union." For Western Europe was unified under the Romans, and again in the so-called "Holy Roman Empire" of the Middle Ages.

You could quote a list as long as your arm in favor of European union—everybody from Napoleon to Victor Hugo and Clement Attlee. It was Attlee who said, "Europe must federate or perish."

But it was the same Attlee—now Prime Minister of Britain—who recently asked his followers to beware of the present plan for consolidation of western Europe.

What is behind this sudden switch?

THE REASON for the opposition by Attlee is that the main drive for the federation of Europe comes from world leaders like Churchill, William C. Bullitt and John Foster Dulles, who are regarded as the spearheads of a movement to line the world up against Russia.

That is undoubtedly the main reason why Attlee and the British Labor party have not been pestered the word around to "lay off" support for Churchill's plan. Their British socialist tendency to "go slow" was backed by a fired German business leaders jumped on the united Europe bandwagon with whoops of joy because, they said, it was to "line socialism."

MOST OF EUROPE is either in the Soviet Union, or in the zone held by the Soviet armies. Hence there can be no possibility of a real federation of Europe without Russian participation.

Even excluding Russia-in-Europe, it would be impossible to federate the remainder of Europe without Russian support—for the obvious reason that the Slav countries would not join.

It seems extremely improbable that the Scandinavian countries would join with western Europe in anything with a hostile momentum against the east.

That would mean, likely, that only Ireland, Britain, France, Spain, Portugal, Italy, Holland, Belgium, western Germany and Greece were possibilities.

If Britain joined such a union, could she hope to hold the remainder of the Commonwealth together? I doubt it.

If Britain did not join, France would be a minority amongst past or present Fascist nations.

The Liberal Revival

BY FRANK B. WALKER

BOURNEMOUTH, England—The liberal party, refreshed and revitalized by the largest party convention since 1914, has set out to resume its rightful political position as the "bastion between two extremes."

In the past year the party has rendered a national service far out of proportion to its numerical strength in the House of Commons. It has made good progress in re-establishing the party organization throughout the country and it is now pledged to contest every seat at the next election.

One of the strengths of the Labor government in Britain has been the fact that the only alternative to Prime Minister Attlee's party was the Conservatives and much of the progressive and liberal vote in many constituencies preferred to go Left rather than return Right.

ONE OF the chief difficulties which confronts the party is a lack of emotional appeal. Labor can genuinely this by a simple protest policy; the Conservatives can appeal to the instinctive dislike of change inherent in so many.

But the Liberals, who have based their creed upon individual freedom and have placed a high emphasis on tolerance, can draw on neither of these emotional appeals. It may be, perhaps that five years of socialist experiment, with its inevitable encroachments upon individual liberties, will serve to make freedom once more a rallying cry.

The first day of the conference was made memorable by an event which occurred in London. It was the introduction in the House of Lords of the Rights of the Subjects Bill.

IN BRITAIN, as in Canada, the complexities of modern legislation make it impossible for the average citizen to know either his rights or the limits upon his activities.

The Bill would provide rights of appeal against judicial decisions which ministers are often nowadays empowered to make but which they are under no obligation to explain or defend against proper scrutiny.

Mr. Dingle Foot quoted the words of Lord Chesterfield and they are appropriate, both in this country and in Canada:

Let us consider that arbitrary power has seldom or never been introduced into any country at once. It must be introduced by slow degrees, and as it were step by step, lest the people should see its approach. The barriers and fences of the people's liberty must be plucked one by one, and some plausible pretenses must be found for removing or hoodwinking one after another. Those pretexts who are posted by the constitution of a free country for warning the people of their danger.

The Liberal bill has no chance of becoming law in the life of this Parliament but both it and the revival of Liberalism may provide the rallying point so much needed by those who today are buffeted between "two extremes."

The Rebel in the Bus

BY BRUCE HUTCHISON

There is something sad and haunting, and something too, of deep, social import, in the story of the New York bus driver who drove his bus to Florida just for the ride and was arrested and then reinstated in his job. For here, surely, was more than obscure bus driver. Here was driver in rebellion against his daily life.

America, lives, as it were, on a bus. It travels by a fixed route every day and by a fixed schedule. From the moment the alarm clock rings in the morning until the light is turned off at night. It is punctual. It is efficient. It is dreadfully dull. And then one day America says, I'm sick and tired of this schedule. I'm going to drive the old bus clear off the route, for I'm not a driver or a passenger, I'm a human being.

So the bus careens off toward Florida. This is all very wrong but it is precisely what everybody wants to do. The bus driver, in fact, is the true hero of North American history. He is the rebel, he is the George Washington, the Founding Father, the original author of the Declaration of Independence, the great, undying myth of our civilization. There was a time and before his trail, ring the alarm bell, assemble the court, pass a law, prepare the death cell.

It is not likely, I suppose, that foreign nations will grasp the meaning of all this. They are all busy imitating the American system. They are entranced by our efficiency, our schedules, productivity per man hour, assembly lines and all the dazzling jargon of our economics. They are all trying to build a bus as fast and safe as ours. But they never really understand the driver or the passenger in the bus. They are imitating the least important thing in our civilization, which is the machine.

In time, no doubt, they will have a bus as fast and safe as ours, but will they have the driver who dashes off to Florida in the springtime? They are doing their best to eliminate the possibility of such a driver. The Russians for example, who have seen and worshipped all the outward machinery of the American system and never glimpsed its inner mechanism, the man—the Russian would take no nonsense from a bus driver. They would not reinstate him after his adventure. They would put him in a salt mine to protect the travelling public and the five-year plan. They would fail to see that the thing which makes the travelling public go is not the bus but the driver who sometimes rebels against it.

At some future time, perhaps, everybody in America will get the same idea at once. The wayward bus will charge in all directions with the passengers singing and feeling young again. Man will leap up and master the machine. He may even achieve the final victory and walk on his own feet again.

But, alas, the time is not yet. The New York bus driver, after his great unconscious act of symbolism, is back at work. He is driving the bus on the regular route and the passengers feel safe again. But privately they wish he hadn't been caught, that they were with him on the road, on any road, heading nowhere. Even the boss wishes he had the courage to do the same thing, to keep on driving and never return.

Tin King

New York Times

The life of Simon I. Patino, the Bolivian Tin King who has just died in Buenos Aires, illustrates dramatically the extremes of wealth and poverty that constitute a continuing problem for much of South America.

Out of the mountains of his native country Patino dug one of the great fortunes of the world, one so enormous that he himself probably could not have come within a billion of naming the exact figure at any time.

With the money came power. Emperors and kings, prime ministers and governments, fawned on him. When he went to Europe he took a whole section of a boat. He would reserve the whole floor of a hotel for himself and his entourage. Two world wars in which millions of men died enormously increased his wealth and his power.

It would be impossible to federate the remainder of Europe without Russian support—for the obvious reason that the Slav countries would not join.

It seems extremely improbable that the Scandinavian countries would join with western Europe in anything with a hostile momentum against the east.

That would mean, likely, that only Ireland, Britain, France, Spain, Portugal, Italy, Holland, Belgium, western Germany and Greece were possibilities.

If Britain joined such a union, could she hope to hold the remainder of the Commonwealth together? I doubt it.

If Britain did not join, France would be a minority amongst past or present Fascist nations.

Seamen's Funds

BY HARPER PROWSE, M.L.A.

Yesterday we noted how the army canteen funds were built up. Today let us take a look at the Navy benevolent fund and how it is being used to alleviate distress.

In 1942 the Navy established the Royal Canadian Navy Benevolent Trust Fund with approximately $250,000, most of which was prize money left over from the first war. In 1945 this fund, having been augmented from other sources, was incorporated under a Dominion charter "to alleviate distress and promote well-being" among navy and ex-navy personnel and their dependents. It is administered by 50 directors, 30 of whom are elected from Navy canteens, and 20 are selected prominent civilians who have shown an interest in the Navy. Active executive authority is held by five executive members elected by the 50. These form the central claims committee who are responsible for active administration of the fund. At the present moment their fund totals approximately $1,000,000.

THE NAVAL FUND was built up from receipts from the Navy Show which netted more than a quarter million dollars, contributions from canteens, and voluntary contributions from interested individuals and organizations. Applications for assistance must be made through the Commanding Officer of the naval base or division closest to the applicant's home.

All applications are then forwarded by air mail, or in cases of emergency by telegraph, radio or telephone to the central executive committee which, if it concurs, telegraphs the money. They have a remarkable record for speedy action. It is available to members and ex-members of the Navy, their dependents (in which case application must be made through the member or ex-member), and the widows and children of deceased sailors.

The fund is not available for the relief of "business distress or financial embarrassment" nor will they make loans for purposes which might be met through banks or loan agencies. Admiral Nelles, president of the fund, told the parliamentary committee, "The type of distress which the fund can and does relieve is distress arising out of unusual and unforeseen circumstances resulting in actual hardship and deprivation. Debts caused by sickness and accident or the need for medical attention."

WHERE THE APPLICANT is eligible to receive assistance from any official source the directors of the fund assist him in getting the official help. The fund is considered basically as a means of helping people who find themselves, through circumstances beyond their own control, in a situation where they cannot help themselves nor receive assistance from any other agency. In cases where it would work additional hardship to repay the loan it is often commuted into a grant. In fact from now on the fund does not intend to grant loans, but only to make outright grants to deserving cases. Their experience with loans is that they merely add to the administrative difficulties and costs as collection is often difficult, and repayment creates new hardships.

Bulletin Readers Say:

Letters to the editor should be brief and discuss no more than one subject at a time. The name and address of the writer must be included, but not necessarily for publication if the correspondent so requests. Letters thus received become the property of THE EDMONTON BULLETIN which, for obvious reasons, cannot undertake to enter into correspondence about them and reserve the right to delete extraneous or unduly controversial matter.

PRICE CONTROL

Editor, Bulletin—Had all price controls been abolished right after the war ended there would have been a temporary inflation, naturally, but the manufacturers would have placed their goods on the market and anyone wanting their goods, and who had the money to pay the inflated price, would have made their purchases, and now prices would be substantially reduced due to lack of demand.

As it is, the price control board, from time to time, increases the ceiling on certain articles, which have been scarce on the market and invariably they become more plentiful, but at that it seems as though there is just not enough placed on the market to meet the demand.

I have been reading a lot of companies' financial reports in the past couple of months and have yet to read one showing a lesser profit than the previous year, and naturally so.

If I were manufacturing stockings and selling them to the retailer for $1 a pair and I knew that eventually the government was going to raise the ceiling price to say 90 per cent, would I not hold all my output off the market, with the exception of enough to pay overhead? That, after all, is good business practice, to make as much money as possible, whether it is a small private business or a large corporation. Price control, in my estimation, is nothing more or less than a legalized hold-up, because it encourages the manufacturer to hold his goods off the market pending an increase in the ceiling price authorized by the government, and at the same time gives him a legal argument to offer to his customers.

RADIO "COMMERCIALS"

Editor, Bulletin: I have just read the report of Don Henahan's address to the CJCA banquet celebrities in radio. He said free enterprise is essential to radio, and "in private competition in the radio industry, the listener is really king."

Has a survey been taken as to what the listener fancies in radio? If so, the majority in favor of hearing childish advertising that gives the listener no credit for any intelligence. In order to enjoy a few good programs, it seems we have to take a great deal of bitter with the sweet. Radio advertising that is a part of free enterprise, could stand some changes as the public's ones tend to make the listeners weary and bored.

"HERE THE AXE FALLS"

Editor, Bulletin—A friend of mine knowing my partiality for Bulletin editorials, recently presented me with your issue of March 1, and being a civil servant, I perused with interest to the article, Where the Axe Falls, by Harner Prowse. The article was probably based on a press report that the Dominion government intended to lay off 30,000 civil servants within the next six months.

I found the article disappointing I believe the vast majority of the men to be laid off will be ex-service men; Mr. Prowse, as we all know, was elected as a soldier representative, and from the tone of his article, it seems he considers that as long as the formula is followed, there is nothing that can be done about it, and he is content to let it go at that.

The formula he outlines is as follows: For entrance to the civil service, first the disability pensioner; secondly, the active service men, and thirdly the non-veterans. They would come under the axe in the following order, first the non-veterans; second, the active service men; and thirdly, the disability pensioners.

I am quite aware that as a soldier representative in the Alberta legislature, there is nothing Mr. Prowse can do about this mass lay off, but as a writer with a column at his disposal, he could do considerable. For instance he could play up the fact that Dominion government is the largest employer of labor in this country; in addition to its civil service, it operates a railway system, and its combined personnel is probably a quarter of a million. In the first place it could reduce the retirement age, and in the second place it could establish a six hour day throughout the civil service, especially in those departments of its activities where there is a 24 hours a day service.

Mr. Prowse could put this thing over more convincingly than I; he may even come to the conclusion that this mass lay off is unnecessary; but I do not believe it. I would like men I would like to see him making better use of his opportunities as a Member.

A VETERAN ON NON-VETS

Editor, Bulletin—Quite recently I was called in by D.V.A. for a medical check-up and I must say that the returned men can not complain as to the treatment they get in the Col. Mewburn hospital. The doctors are the best and do everything possible. The nurses and staff treat you the very best. While I was there I was treated candies, smokes, fruit, books and magazines, by at least eight different organizations. And as soon as you can be up and around, you can go to leathercraft which is run by the Red Cross, and for the cost of the leather you learn to make most anything of leather. Then there is the gym work shops where you can take up wood work, sewing, weaving, leather work and many other things. Also in the evenings and some times in the afternoon, there is entertainment at its best in the auditorium. Besides this you have the phone at your bed where you can get the three Edmonton stations.

Now let us look at some of the less fortunate boys who tried to get into the army and could not, families that have had long bouts of sickness. Take for intsance the T.B. hospital. They have none of these things, and all these organizations that shower things on the returned men never even visit T.B. wards, and these are the patients who are really deserving objectives. I visited the T.B. ward and I was told that they never get treats from any organizations and if there is a returned man among them he is the only one they treat. I do not know what organization does not deserve what he gets, but I do think it should be given equally to all patients and I am sure any veteran in any ward would visit the T.B. ward would gladly give his treats to the less fortunate, especially the bedridden. I would like to appeal to the organizations of Edmonton to do more for the T.B. wards than what has been done, and to the returned men, let us start helping others, instead of letting others help us.

AGREEMENTS

Editor, Bulletin: A recent item in your paper stated that England had signed a fifty year pact, or agreement with France, for mutual defence and protection.

Without silence, I am pointing out that similar previous treaties plunged Canada into two world wars, and I am wondering if this country, and other parts of the Commonwealth, were consulted before such an important document was signed.

CITIZENS' COMMITTEE SEEKS JOBS FOR OLDER VETERANS

In Edmonton at April 1st, according to figures of the National Employment Service there were 272 older veterans registered for employment but unplaced. Many have served in the two great wars. Others fought only in World War One but made a real contribution in Canada's war industry.

Now these men are finding it difficult to locate peacetime employment. The Citizens' Rehabilitation Committee, in co-operation with the Department of Veterans Affairs and the National Employment Service is attempting to place them.

The co-operation of all is needed. The committee, in many cases, seeks positions not requiring great skill, but with integrity and willingness to work the important considerations. Many, however, have excellent peacetime experience and will prove efficient employees.

If you can place an older veteran, please notify The Citizens' Rehabilitation Committee, or list the opening with the National Employment Service.

These are FACTS

- Surveys show workers' most productive years are between 45 and 54.
- Figures prove older workers are less liable to industrial accidents requiring compensation.
- Increased cost for group insurance not great. Difference between worker aged 35 and worker aged 45 is $1.58 per $1,000 of insurance per year.
- Increased cost not great in pension plans. Employers' average pension for worker retired at age 65 is 2¼ per cent — for one at age 40 is 7½ per cent.

THERE ARE 272 OLDER VETERANS UNEMPLOYED IN EDMONTON. THE CITIZENS' REHABILITATION COMMITTEE, THE NATIONAL EMPLOYMENT SERVICE AND THE DEPARTMENT OF VETERANS AFFAIRS, ARE MAKING A CONCERTED EFFORT TO CUT THIS TOTAL. IF YOU CAN EMPLOY AN OLDER VETERAN, LIST YOUR OPENING WITH THE CITIZENS' REHABILITATION COMMITTEE OR WITH THE NATIONAL EMPLOYMENT SERVICE.

Ted Williams Beats Browns

"The Lip" Sees Bums Edge Cardinals 7-6

NEW YORK, May 7 —(AP)— Last year's meeting between Brooklyn Dodgegrs and St. Louis Cardinals were big news. This year, with the Cards in the National League cellar and the Dodgers in first place, the papers tell about Leo Durocher and Laraine Day being in the stands before they mention the score.

Yet The Lip saw a ball game for his money with his former charges nipping the Red Birds 7-6 on a seventh-inning homer by Peewee Reese. Earlier, the Cards showed shocking disrespect for the Bums' top marksmen, clubbing Joe Hatten and Hal Gregg for six runs in two innings.

VETERAN Bucky Walters didn't have to work very hard for his second victory of the season as Cincinnati Reds pelted six New York Giant hurlers all over the Polo Grounds for an 11-6 win. Catcher Ray Lamanno enlisted three of the winners' dozen hits, driving home four runs.

HIGHLIGHT of the American League card was the performance of Ted Williams who pounded two homers off St. Louis Browns pitching. The second broke up the game in the 11th inning, giving Boston Red Sox a 6-5 margin.

A homer from the bat of Eddie Lake decided Detroit's 3-2 win over New York Yankees.

Ring Is Raised For Friday Card

Edmonton's ring fans will have a clearer view of the ring at the Alberta Avenue Sports Pavilion Friday night than they have had at previous fights. It has been raised 14 inches and is now about eye-level with the ringsiders, Barney O'Connor announced yesterday.

The seating also has been rearranged, with new benches replacing the chairs.

The card features the Western welterweight title bout between Tommy Deschambeault and Benny Gr. ary.

Wayne Adams Says Unable To Report

Wayne Adams, with U.S. Army Yanks baseball club here for all three seasons, the last two of which he managed the club, will not be coming to handle the Eskimos at Renfrew Park after all.

A wire received from Adams, whose home is at South Bend, Ind., explains his position:

"Very sorry not able to fulfill my promise. Thinking of all obligations I now have I cannot see my way clear. Have been unable to dispose of my furniture. Have had sickness in family all winter. Therefore almost impossible for present. Desired move and would love to get back to my greatest desire but due to circumstances my move would not be justified."

JOHN DUCEY stated last night that steps had been taken to secure another manager for the Cubs but frankly admitted the fact Adams was not coming was a serious blow to plans already made. "These disappointments come once in a while and we seem to get our share," added John.

Ralph DeMarco, the shortstop sent from California by Joe Devine, arrived last night and will be working out this evening. Ralph comes very highly recommended by the western head of the New York Yankee organization.

Jimmy Foxx Says Playing Days Over

MIAMI, Fla., May 7 —(AP)—Jimmy Foxx, one of baseball's "greats" of a few years ago, said Tuesday he would wind up his playing career here Thursday.

Foxx, now manager of St. Petersburg Saints of the class C Florida International League, may make an appearance before the Saints conclude their current series with the Miami tourists on that date.

Skeet Shooting Helps Hunters, Says Expert

By Bert Greer

When a lone duck or chicken wings its way over a marsh or grain field and a single shot rings out in the country stillness, investigation would probably reveal that the hunter was a member of a gun club.

Sharp shots are these fellows who attend the gun clubs and seldom do they require more than one shell to bring their quarry to earth.

TESTIMONY AS to the benefits derived from banging at clay pigeons in the off-season came from the very lips of Bill Davis, the provincial trap-shooting champion, as he took time out at the official opening of the Edmonton Gun Club yesterday afternoon.

Although he obtained most of his laurels at the traps, Bill's "first love" at the club is the skeet. In his opinion, skeet is "the perfect bird game". He also likes the traps, but called them a sport for "wolves"—top-notchers who are out to cop the top money prizes.

AT SKEET, he said, the "birds" dart out in all directions and a contestant must be both fast and accurate. That was why the skeet training was so beneficial to the hunters when they went into the fields for the live birds, he remarked.

Davis garnered the provincial title in 1941, the last year it was held, and he staged a great uphill battle to win the shoot-off. He missed four birds in his first 25, but made a perfect score the rest of the way for 196 out of 200. He carried his unbroken string to 264.

OFFICIALS of the Edmonton club are looking forward to the best season in history. The club has purchased 28 acres north of the Jasper Highway and about a mile west of the city. It has two new Remington-Leggett traps, which are considered the last word in trap-shooting equipment, and one has already been installed.

In addition there is a doubles trap and one skeet field is in operation, with equipment on hand for installation of another skeet. The new skeet layout will have mechanical releases and delayed timing.

A NUMBER OF CUPS and trophies are competed for annually and the members are placed in various classes, according to their shooting ability. Several of the trophies were donated by the late C. A. Graham, Col. P. E. Bowen and A. E. Turvey, who were among the organizers more than 20 years ago.

The popular May 24 shoot, which attracted shots from many outside points, particularly Lloydminster and Ponoka, will be revived this year. It was cancelled during the war years.

SUFFICIENT quantities of ammunition and targets have been obtained for most of this season, but shooting will be confined mainly to members.

The late C. A. Graham was the first president of the club after it was re-organized in 1926. He held that post for two years, while Bill Winteringham was secretary for the first five years.

This year's slate of officers is: president, V. S. (Charlie) Craddock; vice-president, Fergus (Fergie) Owens; secretary, Herb Tait; executive, Bue Brown, Bill Davis, Bill Madge, Bill Winteringham, Bob Patzig, Bob Turner, Chester Roberts, Phil Lee, Jack Starkey, A. C. (Andy) Anderson, H. O. Patrignani, J. Pool.

THE CLUB HAD almost 100 percent attendance at its official opening as 56 of a membership of slightly more than 60 turned out—and they displayed close to mid-season form.

C. E. (Buster) Brown led the way at skeet with 24 out of a possible 25. He was just one bird ahead of Lindsay C. Elliott and W. E. (Bill) Madge, while Fergus M. Owens had 21 and R. H. (Bob) Patzig 20.

ELLIOTT WAS TOPS at the traps, marking up 24, while other high scorers were Stuart Fraser 21, Bill Winteringham 21, Bill Freeman 21, L. J. (Pat) Patry 20, Bill Davis 19, A. C. Anderson 19, W. Lothian 19, Pat St. Peter 19 and Dr. Mort McIntyre 19.

Bill Davis topped the field in doubles, scoring 18, while A. C. Anderson was his nearest rival with 16.

NEW YORK, May 7 (CP)—New York Rangers of the National Hockey League Tuesday announced the outright sale of centre Albert (Ab) DeMarco of North Bay, Ont., and defenceman Joe Cooper of Winnipeg to Cleveland Barons of the American Hockey League.

DeMarco, 31, acuired from Boston Bruins early in the 1943-44 campaign, finished last season with nine goals and 10 assists for 19 points.

Cooper, 33, joined the Rangers in 1936 was traded to Chicago Black Hawks in 1939 and returned to the New Yorkers last season.

Complete Harmony On Hockey Front

QUEBEC, May 7—(CP)— Harmony prevailed along the world amateur hockey front Tuesday as an outcome of the 30th annual meeting of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association at which Canada acted as a peacemaker in effecting settlement of a dispute between the two British puck interests.

Dr. W. G. Hardy of Edmonton brought a roar of approval from the delegates to the CAHA meeting in Monday's final general session when he announced that the Scottish and British Associations had "buried the hatchet."

DR. HARDY said further meetings would be held about possibility of the two groups joining. The Scottish body through such a step, would gain affiliation with the Ligue International de Hockey Sur Glace and would gain the right to obtain players from Canada.

A. W. Pickard of Regina, the new president of the CAHA said in an interview that Canada and the United States were assured of complete autonomy within the framework of the LIHG "by the terms of our affiliation with that body." Dr. Hardy also issued a statement especially to counteract any impression that Canadian might be allowing hockey control out of her hands.

Norman Dawe, newly-elected first vice-president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, said Tuesday that the present system of alternating yearly the Allan Cup and memorial cup finals in the east and west would stand.

Gyro Club Sees Baseball Film

"We're gonna beat the socks off 'em," exclaimed John Ducey Tuesday when he referred to the fact that, although the Edmonton hockey team was beaten by Calgary this year the tables will be turned in regards to baseball.

Speaking at a Gyro Club luncheon, Mr. Ducey complimented the club in regard to its co-operation in the development of sport activities for children. Following his address, the film "World Series Baseball, 1946," was shown.

Rickey Is Silent On Rehiring Leo

MONTREAL, May 7 -(CP)— President Branch Rickey of the National League Brooklyn Dodgers Tuesday nidestepped a question about the Dodgers' plans to rehire Leo Durocher when their former manager's one year suspension is up.

"That is hardly in the field of discussable questions," said the Brooklyn boss, here to watch the Dodgers' Montreal International League farmhands perform. "But it is the $128 question—not the $64 question," he added.

SPEAKING OF Jackie Robinson, the negro infielder who led the International in batting last season while playing second base for Montreal, Rickey said he thought Robinson had not yet played the kind of ball he is capable of playing in Brooklyn, because of the "inordinate pressure" on him. He added he still felt Robinson would produce for the Dodgers.

Says No Evidence Of "Fixing" Game

LOS ANGELES, May 7 -(AP)— President Clarence (Pants) Rowland of the Pacific Coast Baseball League said Tuesday there was no evidence to support an accusation in a San Francisco newspaper that gamblers had "fixed" a league game.

Rowland recently returned from San Francisco where he investigated the accusation published in sports editor Bud Spencer's column April 30 in the San Francisco News.

Spencer said his source was a gambler, whose name he did not disclose, and that he refused to name any persons or club involved.

Rowland said Spencer could offer nothing factual to back up the statement.

Stampeders Play 5th Game Tonight

TORONTO, May 7 -(CP)—There is no denying that Montreal Royals with a 3-1 lead in games over Calgary Stampeders in their best-of-seven Allan Cup final, have the silverware virtually in their grasp but for a team as hockey wise as the western champions it isn't a good idea to sell them short.

The fifth game comes up here tonight and coach Frank Carlin of the Royals is one of those who doesn't think "it's practically all over but the shouting."

BOTH TEAMS will be at full strength but a couple of Montreal players, right wingers Cliff Maloney and Jacques Locas, will be far from in the best of shape. Both were injured in the last game and until Tuesday were doubtful starters.

Agricultural fairs have been an intregal part of American country life for well over a century.

Tries to Pick Up Planet

Mars "Just Not Talking" Says Unique Radio Listener

WASHINGTON, May 7 (AP) —If Mars is trying to communicate with the other planets by radio, Grote Reber figures he should pick up the message.

For several years Reber has had a fantastically intricate radio receiver specially designed to pick up celestial messages.

So far, however, he's heard no strains of Martian soap opera, a senator's speech or even a dot-dash signal.

"They just don't seem to be trying to talk to us," Reber said, although he speculates this way:

If there are any people on Mars or any of the other stellar bodies, and if they have reached the same stage of development as Earthians, they probably know about radio. But it may be that their transmitters aren't sufficiently powerful to broadcast to Earth.

Reber, a radio engineer, built his queer listening station near his home at Wheaton, Ill. He came to Washington today to tell the institute of radio engineers about it.

While listening for a message from Martians is his hobby, Reber does serious work, too, studying the weird radio waves that come from the sky.

"This stuff is just cosmic noise," he told a reporter. "What makes it nobody knows. But it definitely is of natural origin, due to some disturbance in cosmic space.

"Not by the wildest flight of imagination, however, could you suppose it might be created by any type of human intelligence."

Some scientists believe this noise which exists almost constantly, may come from an atomic disturbance far out in space.

Former Edmonton Resident Is Dead

CALGARY, May 7.—(CP)—Norman Steckle, 68, died here Monday in hospital. Funeral services were held today at 2 p.m. with burial in Didsbury cemetery. Mr. Steckle was born in Ontario and after coming to Alberta served with the department of agriculture 36 years at Edmonton and Youngstown.

Former Minister Declared Insane

LONDON, May 7 — (Reuters)— Thomas John Ley, 66-year-old former minister of justice in New South Wales, Australia, who was condemned to death in a sensational "chalkpit murder trial," was declared insane Monday and removed to Broadmoor asylum for life. The sentence of death on Lawrence John Smith, a carpenter accused of abetting Ley in the murder of John MacMain Mudie, was commuted to life imprisonment by Home Secretary Ede.

MORE FORD TRUCKS SOLD IN CANADA than any other make!

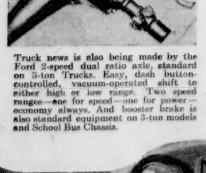
Here are some of the engine features which add up to longer life and low-cost hauling: 4-ring aluminum alloy pistons; new fixed connecting rod bearing liners; balanced carburetion; sealed-dry distributor; positive type rear main bearing oil seal; bigger capacity oil pump; removable pan plate; split flywheel housing; new servicing ease with interchangeable cylinder heads. In 2- and 3-ton engines, a new high torque camshaft steps up torque to 183 lbs.-feet at 1600 RPM's.



Truck news is also being made by the Ford 2-speed dual ratio axle, standard on 3-ton Trucks. Easy, dash button-controlled, vacuum-operated shift to either high or low range. Two speed ranges—one for speed—one for power—economy always. And booster brake is also standard equipment on 3-ton models and School Bus Chassis.

55% more Ford Trucks were sold in Canada last year than any other make.

25% more Ford Trucks were sold than in any previous year.

Over the whole history of truck building in Canada, more Ford Trucks have been sold than any other make.

You'll find all the basic money-saving reasons for Ford leadership in this year's line of Ford Trucks—plus some very good new reasons. Reasons like the improved V-8 power plant and dozens of cab and chassis improvements.

Varsity Students To Demolish Camp

University students work at many kinds of jobs during the summer months, from prospecting for gold at the Arctic Circle to shooting gophers in southern Alberta, and 24 varsity undergraduates who left Wednesday for northern B.C. are maintaining this reputation for diversity.

The two dozen students representing almost every faculty at the university, are en route to Terrace, B.C., where they will work on demolition of an army camp. Away from their books until next September, the students will try their hands at manual labor and all are looking forward to a summer in the mountains of northern British Columbia.

The students are employed by Mix Brothers Livestock Transfer and Construction Co., which has hired university undergraduates as the majority of its crew for two years.

Voices Appeal On Behalf Vets

In an appeal to city employers today, J. I Grodeland, special placements officer of National Employment Service, Edmonton, issued a statement on behalf of married university veterans living in the city, who are unemployed.

"There are still some married men in town needing work," said Mr. Grodeland. "While there are jobs available outside the city, married veterans, with families, who have been overseas during the war years and now are living in suites, need city jobs."

He explained that these married ex-servicemen would like to spend the summer with their families, and pointed out that complications occur when the veteran must remain in town or give up the lease on his suite.

"We feel that employers have been most co-operative in providing jobs for students," stated the employment service officer. Students also have been very co-operative in accepting all types of work.

Of the 4,200 students attending university last term, 60 per cent were veterans, most of them married. Of those applying for work to National Employment Service, 75 per cent obtained jobs. "It is that other 25 per cent we are trying to help," said Mr. Grodeland.

Big Berry Crop Expected in B.C.

VANCOUVER, May 7—(CP)—W. MacGillivray, director of agricultural development and extension for British Columbia, said yesterday that strawberry and raspberry crops in the Fraser Valley this year would be the largest in the history of B.C. He predicted a 100 per cent production increase over last year.

Psychic bidding is not employed by the experts as much as it was a few years ago, but they all believe that a psychic should be used occasionally. Otherwise a player acquires a reputation for bidding down the middle and the opponents can always count on what he is going to do.

Charles J. Solomon of Philadelphia employed a good psychic in the world championship master individual tournament, which he won this year. Solomon sat West, and he was in no real danger when he bid one spade over one club, having a fine diamond suit to run to. He does not have a reputation as a psychic bidder, and the players in the individual tournament figure that the fellow who is out in front would not dare to use a psychic bid.

Therefore instead of bidding his spade suit, North made the natural bid of two hearts. When South failed to bid spades, and verified his club holding with the aid of three clubs, Solomon decided to bid his diamonds in case the opponents got to no trump.

Now there was no reason for North to suspect a psychic spade bid. He had two five-card suits himself, so West could easily have five spades and five diamonds. South had not liked hearts, so North passed, though I think that most players will agree that he should have taken some action, even if it were a bid of four clubs. South did bid four clubs, and Solomon decided to step out of the bidding, for one round anyway. But North passed, though it would seem that he should have tried five clubs, since Smith had bid one club, three clubs and four clubs practically by himself.

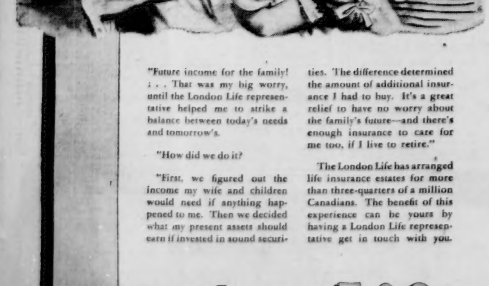
Six clubs or six spades is ice cold. The only losing trick North and South would have is a diamond.

Most pairs arrived at a slam contract, and Solomon won top score on the board because North and South against him were the only pair who failed to arrive at a game contract at least.

Charge Spying

MOSCOW, May 7.—(AP)—An article in the newspaper Izvestia Tuesday charged that "numerous" American and British agents dressed in civilian clothes are operating in Turkey as business men.

"I've Struck the Balance Between NOW ... and THEN"



"Future income for the family! . . . That was my big worry, until the London Life representative helped me to strike a balance between today's needs and tomorrow's.

"How did we do it?

"First, we figured out the income my wife and children would need if anything happened to me. Then we decided what my present assets should earn if invested in sound securities. The difference determined the amount of additional insurance I had to buy. It's a great relief to have no worry about the family's future—and there's enough insurance to care for me too, if I live to retire."

The London Life has arranged life insurance estates for more than three-quarters of a million Canadians. The benefit of this experience can be yours by having a London Life representative get in touch with you.

Our Town

By JACK SCOTT

To Kitty Foyle

Love came creeping my way on its magic pink feet all through last week and I just gotta confess, I am that way about ten thousand beautiful girls and I don't care who knows it.

These girls are stenographers, secretaries, filing clerks, adding machine operators, typists, receptionists, switchboard operators and all the fine, crisp, lovely girls who work in the severe factories of business.

And the elevator girls, too, wonderful, bright-eyed creatures with ready smiles, any one of whom I would gladly run away with in an Ois-Fensom elevator to Bali-Bali or the golden sand beach of Waikiki.

This delirium comes from a week spent within the four glass walls of commerce in search of certain facts for a magazine story.

It is a strange, unsettling world for a newspaperman. Everything is orderly, efficient and terrifyingly tidy. No voices are raised in ribald shouts. Only the muffled machine gun stutter of noiseless typewriters and the measured voice of the dictaphone disturb the conditioned air.

Perched on the edge of hard wooden benches waiting for busy, well-tailored executives to press little buttons which would open their doors to me, I was amazed and delighted to find that on this bleak and unromantic stage are the most beautiful women in the world. It was love at first sight.

Glamor Plus

Unless you've made the rounds of a couple of dozen offices, as I did through the week, you'll have no idea just how fine looking has gone. The executives' cubicles are still largely inhabited by men, but acre after acre of outer offices have become almost entirely a woman's world.

If I am not mistaken, women in business earlier days were almost exclusively a hard-bitten bunch, severely dressed with high-button shoes and hair caught at the rear in a bun.

I am here to tell you that there have been some changes made, and you are a mighty dull fish, indeed, if you disapprove.

The office girl of today looks like ninety million dollars, she may be wearing silk or a form-fitting sweater or just whatever suits her personality.

This display of pulchritude and charm is secondary to the atmosphere that the ladies give to these offices. There is a definite quality of alertness, a zest for living and an animation that you'll never find in an office.

One of the prettiest and most satisfying sights in the world is to watch a highly-skilled typist at work, a picture of absolute concentration and a singleness of purpose, yet looking somehow as if she should be atop a windy hill in a floppy hat.

The elevator girl, herself, running her vertical railway with a skill and dash no man has ever equalled, might inspire an Irving Berlin song.

And Romance

An agreeable tycoon to whom I confided some of these thoughts (while still under the influence of my own outer office, a fine source of supply for any Broadway show) agreed with alacrity that the business office of today is not only vastly more pleasing to the eye, but that the efficiency as noticeably improved as the glamor.

The disadvantage, it seems, is a high rate of turnover since, as any fool may plainly see, at least nine-tenths of these fair creatures are in the market for some of that wedding ring talk.

A single, junior executive has about as much chance of escaping as he would of marooned on a desert island with the chorus line of Earl Carroll's "Vanities." Or, for that matter, as much inclination to escape.

Our own office is almost completely composed of males and a pretty drab looking lot they seemed, too, after my scenic tour.

I suppose there is nothing much to be done about it except perhaps write a few more columns about the business world, an undertaking that may require a good deal of research.

Less Taxes Paid Than Last Year

Tax collections, both current and arrears, for the four-month period ended April 30, 1947 totalled $2,104,881.61 compared with $2,402,788.62 for the same period last year, a decrease of $297,907.01, according to a statement filed with the city commissioners by Thomas Walker, city assessor.

The decline is accounted for by the falling off in the sales of property that reverted to the city for non-payment of taxes. During the four months of this year the sales of property amounted to $206,810.36 compared with $55,775.39 for the 1946 period, a decrease of $348,965.-01.

Current tax collections totalled $1,763,089.78 compared with $1,715,-923.34, and collections of current arrears amounted to $129,997.07 against $123,674.15 for the four-month period ended April 30, 1946.

Government Crews To Work On Road

Department of public works crews and machines will do the major construction work connected with the hard-surfacing and rebuilding of the Jasper Highway west of the city, Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of public works, said Wednesday.

The only contract to be let probably to a private firm went to the Poole Construction Co., Edmonton, for $145,000 for the crushing of rock to be used on the road from Edmonton to Stony Plain.

This section of the road will be rebuilt as will the portion of the road extending from Carvel Corner to Seba Beach. It has also been decided to complete the hard surfacing from Stony Plain to Carvel Corner this summer. This part of the project was not planned previously.

Survey crews and some equipment have already moved onto the job, the minister said, but big outfits will not be working there until sometime next week.

Conduct Survey On Parking Meters

Findings of a survey of the traffic situation in Edmonton by the Crossroads Fellowship of the YMCA during recent weeks were announced today by K. Kennedy, president of the group. Report of a committee studying the proposed installation of parking meters has been forwarded to the city council.

Severity of Alberta winters is one of the main problems connected with parking meter installation in Edmonton, and since it has been rumored that certain other Canadian cities had encountered parking meter failure during cold weather periods, it was felt that an investigation was necessary.

Tegler Building Fire Causes Alarm

A fire in the Tegler building on 101 street shortly before midnight Tuesday caused much alarm among business men who have offices in the building. However, the fire turned out to be of a minor nature and was quelched with hand extinguishers.

Many doctors and dentists who have offices in the building phoned The Bulletin for information on the fire.

GREASE ON AN overheated stove in Woolworth's kitchen on the second floor of the premises is reported to have started the blaze. Slight smoke and water damage was suffered. Fire halls one, two and five responded under Fire Chief James Macgregor.

Grass fires continued to give firemen a busy time on Tuesday as seven such fires were reported between noon Tuesday and Wednesday morning.

Just 14 minutes prior to the Tegler building fire the department responded to a call at the Rosenberry hotel on 105 street just south of Jasper. Here a cigarette butt had caused about $30 damage to a mattress and floor in one of the rooms. Hand extinguishers were used to put the fire out.

The meetings are to be held at the South Side, the West End, and the East End during the second week in June. Edmonton is entitled to 50 delegates at the provincial convention. Of these the west and east ends will name 17 each and the South Side 16.

The meeting decided to delay the election of a new executive until September, though the Monday meeting was an annual one, the proximity of the convention resulted in authorization of the present officers to continue in office until after the provincial convention.

The men will be employed in the sugar beet fields of both provinces.

Help Hold Markets

Calls for Year-Round Production of Hogs

Advocating year-round production of hogs through a price incentive, Roy M. Marler, president of the Alberta Federation of Agriculture, said Monday that such an arrangement might be made jointly between producers and the government through a small deduction from summer farrowed hogs when marketed and a grant from the government of an equal amount payable when winter farrowed hogs were marketed.

IN URGING the hog-production boost Mr. Marler said, "a continuous supply of diversified farm products best suited to the farmer's particular setup and to the district in which he lives, is imperitive to the stability and prosperity of agriculture.

Two important objectives were for farmers of Alberta to fortify their economic position by individually adjusting their farming program to include the production of more hogs, and to obtain food for the people of Britain, the AFA president said.

"I have yet to hear of anyone who fails to recognize the importance of the British bacon market," said Mr. Marler.

In a perpared statement dealing with factors of Alberta's hog-production decline since 1943, Mr. Marler said:

"MUCH HAS BEEN said as to why hog production has steadily declined since 1942, such as shortage of labor, the hog feeder getting too old, the farm mortgage being paid off—therefore no need to work so hard; price of grain being attractive; the equalization payment on grain: the price relationship between grain and hogs, and last, but not least, income tax.

"No doubt these and other reasons have been important factors in the decline in the number of hogs produced, but some of these difficulties are being overcome. Labor is fast becoming more available.

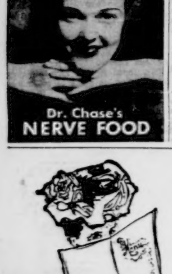
"True some of our farmers are retiring because of old age but this loss is being taken up by the farmers' sons and by returned men.

"The subsidy on grain, namely 25 cents on barley and 10 cents on oats, we understand is to be discontinued Aug. 1, and in my opinion the price relationship of grain and hogs as well as the income is misunderstood by too many farmers.

"THERE STILL IS a margin of profit on grain fed to hogs over grain sold at present prices, even after the income tax has been paid.

Mr. Marler said farmers could not expect to be prosperous if they did not produce and that it was also necessary to produce commodities demanded in the consumers' market.

"We are fortunate just now in having a market for almost any commodity we produce on our farms, but much can be accomplished in so directing our production as not to overload the market of one commodity and lose that of another," the federation president stated.



Alaska Highway Book Ready Soon

An information booklet on Alaska highway travel will be ready in a matter of days, R. A. Godson informed a luncheon of the Alberta Motor Association, held in the Club Roosevelt Tuesday. C. H. Grant, KC, was chairman.

Two dealers who operate all-night towing services in the city will be approached in regards to the all-night sale of gasoline. The meeting was informed that this sale would be impossible unless the public co-operated and bought gasoline during regular business hours, and did not over-tax the limited night facilities.

It was decided the AMA civic committe would approach the city in regards to traffic signs in school zones. It was stated present signs were inadequate.

The meeting named Jack Housez chairman of the AMA publicity committee. Mr. Housez succeeds the late Gordon M. Butler in this post.

April, 1947 established a record month for membership in the Edmonton branch of the AMA with a total increase of 534. Membership of the Edmonton branch as at April 30 was 13,010.

Born at Lincoln, England, in 1886, he received his education at Lincolnshire schools. He was married on Nov. 19, 1908, to Cassandra Polley, at Holy Trinity church, Leicester, England.

He came to Edmonton from England in 1912, and joined the staff of Edmonton City Dairy Limited, remaining with that organization until 1934, when he joined the NADP, taking over the position of retail sales manager in 1935. He remained in that capacity until his retirement last summer.

Surviving are his wife, one son, Alfred of Medicine Hat, two brothers and two sisters in England.

A funeral service will be held in the Holy Trinity church on Wednesday afternoon, at 2:30 p.m., with the Rev. Canon W. M. Nainby officiating. Howard and McBride are in charge of arrangements. Burial will be in Edmonton Cemetery.

Building Permit Issue Declines

Edmonton's building permit total for the first four months of this year was $2,974,443 compared with $4,479,993 for the same period last year, a decrease of $2,043,468, according to figures issued Tuesday by Maxwell C. Dewar, city architect.

The main decline is in the number and amount of home building permits issued there being only 290 in the four-month period this year, with a permit value of $1,325,350, compared with 625 for the same period last year valued at $2,441,825.

Since April 1, 23 permits for homes were issued with a value of $132,200. Robert H. Rae, Edmonton contractor, took out permits for 11 houses in the 73 block on 112 avenue. Seven of these have a permit value of $7,000, and four for $6,000.

Three land sales were made Tuesday, two being purchased by city contractors who intend to erect dwellings and an apartment house.

Harold Bradley and William Sharp, 12038 95 street, purchased the third to fifth lots on the east side of 124 street north of 111 avenue on which they will erect two houses, each to cost $8,000, and an apartment building costing $15,000.

Magnus Jveson, 12733 117 street, purchased eight lots on the south side of 109 avenue between 111 and 112 streets on which he will erect eight dwellings each costing $7,000.

Kelell Hault purchased the north west corner of Jasper avenue and 90 street as the site for a $35,000 service station and stores.

Oil Publicity Official Leaves

Following several weeks spent between Edmonton and the Imperial Oil Company's sites at Leduc, George Lawrence, public relations officer for the company, returned Tuesday by air to headquarters in Toronto. Mr. Lawrence said he was uncertain whether or not he would be back at an early date. Much would depend on the drilling and testing progress at the company's four as yet unproven sites adjacent to their No. 1 producing well in the Leduc district. Final results of tests now being conducted on 5,000-foot stratum samples of the company's No. 3 hole would not likely be known for eight or ten days, officials said.

Citizens Get Windfall

An unexpected "windfall" of two dollars was received by 6,300 citizens from the City of Edmonton this week in the form of a credit note from the billing section of the electric light and power department.

The credit note is for the difference of the amount of deposit taken on general and combination electric light contracts. When the reduction in electric light rates was made last year, the combination rate was abolished, and recently Ald. Sidney Parsons asked that the excess deposit be refunded to former combination rate contract holders.

This has now been done, and the credit note can be used in payment of curent light and water account. The credit note is void if not presented prior to June 6 next.

Why Grow Old?

With hair of a length to lend itself to various hairdos, Actress Virginia Hunter keeps it fit for any change by frequent brushing and combing.

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Hair styling has gone haywire in a lovely way. From longer hair we recently arrived at new short hair popularity, and even newer, the one-sided coiffeur. I do not know whether hats influence hairdos or visa versa but it is a cinch that they must match for the well-being of our appearance. Too few women realize that the hair and the hat should blend into a perfect, symetrical whole.

Many of our best known hat designers and hair stylists know this and now work together in order to achieve this effect. Lately the up-on-one-side, down-on-the-other, or curled on one side, and a straight pull-back on the other, have been popular. Naturally hats must match. On the curly side, the hat should be nil, swooping down on the flat side. It is an essential that we think of our hairdo when we buy a hat, or if we like the hat well enough, we may change our hair style.

I do not believe that there has ever been a time, at least not in the fairly recent past, when hair was so featured. Grandmother pinned her's back, put a few crimps in it, or pulled a dip down here and there and felt like Cleopatra. Today the most alluring styles appear everywhere on lovely heads. Some of the styles are so elaborate that they are not practical for wind blown days or for home brushing. I think the most popular length of hair is still that which can be arranged in a number of different ways

The foundation of any beautiful head is healthy hair. For this we must have good nutrition, cleanliness, excercise, scalp massage and vitamins. Mental habits also effect our hair. Shock, nervousness, emotional strain and worry are reflected in the state of our tresses

If you wish to have suggestions about hair styles to fit your facial contour, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 51, "Framing Your Face Attractively," to Josephine Lowman in care of the Edmonton Bulletin.

This and the following articles are taken from the Book of Knowledge and can be clipped for saving in a reference book.

THE WIND?

There are many ways in which man uses the wind for his purposes. He erects a windmill with sails, and the wind drives these round and round, working a machine that will grind the corn or pump up water. Man also uses wind for drying his clothes after they have been washed.

But the chief use to which he puts the wind is transport. This was, no doubt, one of the very first ways in which he made use of the wind. Both on land and water, for thousands of years, vehicles and vessels have been driven by the wind. The wind was, indeed, one of the first natural forces man ever used.

Though it may blow continuously in one direction, man is not at the mercy of the wind; he is not compelled to go just where the wind happens to be blowing at the time. By using his brain he is able to outwit the wind. He can change the position of the rudder of his boat and catch the wind in such a way that he can use it to drive his vessel in the opposite direction from that in which the wind is blowing.

This is done by a process known as tacking. It consists of turning the ship a few points to starboard, then a few points to port, then to starboard again, back to port, and so on, much as you might direct a course through a crowd of people, darting first right, then left, taking advantage of every small opening but always making some small headway forward.

When he wants to drive his boat in the teeth of the wind, the sailor turns his rudder and sails a zigzag course. The boat is turned by means of the rudder, so that its side is presented to the oncoming wind. This would drive the boat before the wind, but the resistance of the water on the opposite side prevents this. The vessel, therefore, takes the line of least resistance. When the rudder is turned and the boat changes its direction, the sail is swung round by the wind.

After going for some distance in this direction, the rudder is again changed, and the boat turns round, catches the wind, and takes a slanting course in the other direction. By doing this repeatedly, and tacking from side to side,

A sailboat tacking in a wind takes a zigzag course. By means of the rudder, the sides are alternately presented to the wind, but the pressure of the water on the opposite side prevents the wind from driving the vessel backward. The boat follows the easiest path and goes in a slanting direction, as shown by the dotted line.

the boat eventually reaches its haven. To learn to tack, or to beat up to windward, as it is called, is one of the most important things a sailor has to learn

Objects to Looks Without Make-up

Dear Miss Dix: For the past three months I have been engaged to a man whom I expected to marry shortly. One afternoon, he dropped into my home while I was helping my sister clean house. I was wearing an old pair of slacks, had on no make-up and my hair was in bobby-pins. Since that day, he has refused to see me. He informs me that he could never marry me now because whenever he looked at me thereafter, he would remember how I looked that afternoon

I love him very much. But I now wonder if his love for me could really be true, for I have always believed that he should still care for me, no matter what I looked like. What should I do in this matter?

PERPLEXED

Answer: There is nothing you can do under the circumstances except to make a graceful exit because if a man refuses to marry you, you can't drag him to the altar against his desires

I THINK your boy friend is just putting on an act and is making the way you looked in your house-cleaning regalia an excuse for breaking the engagement. You may not have looked like a glamor girl without make-up and your working clothes on, but certainly your lack of being dolled up couldn't have turned you into such a hideous creature that he couldn't endure the sight of you

Anyway, I think you are lucky to be rid of the boy before you are tied up with him for keeps, for surely any husband who expected his wife to be always decked out to within an inch of her life would be a pest to live with

What does he expect of a wife—that she will always be young, beautiful and dressed in pink chiffons with flowers in her hair? What about the times she will have a cold in the head and be sick and miserable? How is she going to cook, wash and iron and baby-tend in her best clothing? And how is he going to look with a two-day stubble of beard?

A marriage has to be founded on something more stable than beauty if it is going to last and be any comfort while it does last

Your Baby and Mine

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

When the baby must be bottle-fed, it is essential that he should not be robbed of a wholesome, comforting relationship with the mother.

However convenient it may be to prop up the baby's bottle and leave him to wrestle with it himself, it is wrong to manage the feeding in this way. The nursing baby has a tender association with the mother, so that he draws with each mouthful of milk, a sense of this loving individual who is protecting and feeding him.

The bottle is a very impersonal object. It can slide down so there is a space between milk and nipple, and the baby will be helpless to prevent himself from getting as much air as he gets milk. It can empty itself to the point where the baby can no longer get any milk from it, though there may be more to be had. It can in a most cruel way topple over and hit the baby on its nose.

We do not expect the baby to stand on his own feet, to procure his own nourishment, to keep himself clean and dry. We do all of those things for him as a matter of course. It is just as obvious that he needs help in getting his food and the mother should not begrudge the time spent in feeding the baby and holding his bottle. He needs that help in order to develop confidence in the protectiveness of those around him.

Hold the bottle baby as if he were being nursed. A small pillow on the mother's arm will make a soft resting place for baby's head. The head should be elevated slightly as the baby is more comfortable and swallows better in that position.

Some air will be swallowed, no matter how one manages this and some gas will be manufactured during digestion. This has to be patted up periodically. The mother who is holding her baby will note when he begins to grunt, to push out the nipple and to act uncomfortable. It is time then to stop the meal and get up that annoying gas. Then baby will be ready to go back to eating with a renewed appetite

Our leaflet No. 22, "Formulas and Early Feeding," may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of The Edmonton Bulletin.

Mrs. W. P. Calhoun Re-Elected President of University Club

Mrs. W. P. Calhoun was re-elected president of the University Women's Club of Edmonton at a supper meeting held in the University cafeteria Monday evening.

The guest of honor was Mrs. W. J. Melrose, who was presented with a corsage on the occasion of the 50th anniversary of the graduation from McGill University. Also seated at the head table were H. G. Glyde, the speaker of the evening, and Mrs. Glyde.

After supper the club held its annual meeting.

MRS. I. F. MORRISON reported that $1,200 has already been raised for the memorial scholarship fund by vanishing teas, and the fund is still being held open.

Mr. Glyde talked on Canadian art, illustrating by slides obtained from the National Gallery. He traced the history of Canadian art from the time of Paul Kane who came to Canada from Ireland early in the 19th century, to Lorne Harris and the Group of Seven, who is doing some of the most creative painting at the present day.

MR. GLYDE said that Canadian art had an unfortunate start. The artists were necessarily imported from Britain and Europe and their ignored Indian art, which was primitive but creative, and gave Canadian art a European accent at a time when European art was not at a creative period.

The tendency of art today is away from detail and towards simplicity of outline and the interchange of light shade to give unity to the picture. A good artist must never be mechanical and must feel what he paints. At present there are greater artists in eastern than in western Canada, but there are some very promising students in the west, he said.

OTHER OFFICERS elected were as follows: honorary president, Mrs. Robert Newton; honorary vice-president, Mrs. R. C. Wallace and Mrs. W. A. R. Kerr; first vice president, Mrs. R. I. Anderson; second vice-president, Mrs. G. C. Higgin; corresponding secretary and federation representative, Mrs. M. H. Long; recording secretary, Miss Flora MacLeod; treasurer, Miss Ruth Hyndman; conveners of standing committees: education, Mrs. W. S. Scarth; library, Miss Norma Watterberg; membership, Miss Norma Friefield; program, Mrs. D. J. Tevlotdale; social, Mrs. H. G. Thompson.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Lees of Toronto are in Edmonton Tuesday, guests at the Macdonald hotel.

Points for Parents

Mother: "What will people think of you — crying on the street! . . . Do behave yourself, everyone is looking at you. . . . No one will like you if you're not a good girl."

Mother: "If you wipe your eyes and smile, you'll make Mother happy, and the persons we meet happy too. See, that woman you smiled at, smiled back at you."

Whether children learn to think in terms of what others think of them, or what they can contribute to the happiness of others, depends largely upon parents' early teaching.

Not on Retailers

Dealers Ask Pressure Put on Manufacturers

Canadian consumers, in a resolution passed by directors of the Alberta branch, Retail Merchants Association, held here Monday and Tuesday, are urged to bring pressure on manufacturers and producers of foods, for a reduction in costs of necessities rather than continue the present campaign against retailers, who have no control over the rising price situation.

In announcing the resolution, Secretary A. C. MacKay, of the Alberta branch of the Retail Merchants' Association, drew attention to the recent action of merchants in American cities where retail prices on several commodities have been slashed 10 per cent.

SIMILAR ACTION is impossible here, the resolution states, because the retail mark-up on merchandise still is in short supply, is governed by Wartime Prices and Trade Board orders and is not sufficient to warrant a discount on food products when the cost of operation is considered.

Another factor contributing to rising costs of retailer operation is the higher minimum wage schedules and shorter hours for employes put in force recently.

WHOLESALE FOOD suppliers met Tuesday with the board directors of the retail merchants to discuss closer co-operation in meeting general merchandising problems of the day, Mr. MacKay said.

Program of the Retail Merchants' Association was endorsed by the wholesalers, and another meeting will be held in the near future.

H. W. K. Hilliker, chairman of the Alberta branch of the food division, and Mr. MacKay will attend a meeting in Winnipeg of the national food division on May 19 and 20.

Y's Men's Meeting Hears Dr. Caird

Dr. G. B. Caird, professor of Hebrew language and Old Testament literature at St. Stephens college, spoke on "Rambling Thoughts in a Lighter Vein" Tuesday night at the Y's Men's meeting in the YMCA.

He told the story of Heinrich Schlieman, a man remembered for his three unusual characteristics; phenomenal luck, a phenomenal memory, and a romantic nature.

He mastered 18 languages, and capitalizing on his luck and memory, amassed a fortune.

At the age of 40 he set out to find the ancient city of Troy, which students at that time thought was an invention of Homer's mind.

But nevertheless, Dr. Caird said, he unearthed the site of ancient Troy and later discovered the ancient city of Mycenae in Greece.

Entertainment was provided by a quartet comprised of Alex White, Jeff Williamson, Allen McCullough, and Bob White, accompanied by Stuart Dewar.

NORTH VANCOUVER, B.C., May 7—(CP)—Sought for three days, Mrs. Ronald Godwin, 20-year-old mother of a four-month-old baby found in a pram on an isolated mountain road here Saturday night, yesterday returned to her home.

The child, Lorraine Patricia, was left alone for 12 hours.

Taken into custody at her home, Mrs. Godwin, charged with "abandonment of a baby under two years, thereby endangering its life," pleaded guilty in police court and was remanded a week for sentence.

She offered no explanation, merely told police she had been staying with a friend in Vancouver. The baby is being cared for in hospital.

"Secret Deals" Rapped By Drew

OTTAWA, May 7.—(CP)—In a slashing attack on the Dominion government's methods of negotiating agreements with provinces, Premier Drew of Ontario last night charged it with "encouraging political treachery by secret baits and secret deals behind closed doors."

Addressing a dinner of the Ottawa Young Progressive Conservatives, Mr. Drew accused the government of "seeking by force, pressure and political blackmail to take over provincial fields of taxation on a permanent basis."

While repeating that his province was willing to enter a Dominion-provincial agreement, he declared it would not sign any pact with only "pious verbal assurances" that the federal administration was not setting up a permanent system of subsidies to the provinces.

Build New Town For Airways Firm

STAVANGER, Norway, (CP)—A new town of 5,000 aircraft workers soon will spring up around Sola airfield near here, selected as eastern terminal of Scandinavian airways trans-Atlantic service.

Hangars and workshops will be built to maintain long-range aircraft, runways will be extended and hotel accommodation provided. Sola will become an important junction for feeder services to the Scandinavian capitals and perhaps other European countries.

"I am convinced the decision will have untold significance for Norwegian airways and the country as a whole," said Bernt Blachen, veteran Norwegian airman and a director of Norwegian Airlines.

FUTURE EXPORT TRADE

Much depends on balance of trade says the Bank of Nova Scotia's monthly review. This is because to Canada, a vital factor is the future of export trade. As the governor of the Bank of Canada recently said: "Canada cannot continue indefinitely to sell on credit in overseas markets while she is incurring a substantial cash deficit in her balance of payments with the United States." This emphasizes the extent to which sustained prosperity depends upon economic recovery in continental Europe and the United Kingdom which will enable those countries to pay for goods purchased from Canada and on the re-establishment of a multilateral trading system will permit Canada to use the receipts from those sales to balance accounts with the United States.

FAST THINKING

"Yes," continued the loquacious explorer, "when we neared the island we could see the whole place was literally red with lobster."

"Ha, ha," cried a clubman, who was waiting to trap him, "lobsters are only red after boiling."

"This, air was a volcanic island."

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, (CP) — Britain took 170,000 bushels of wheat under the Canadian contract in trading on Winnipeg grain exchange Wednesday. Rye prices showed a firm trend.

There was moderate demand by shippers for May and July, and American houses were credited with buying in the deferred months. There were reports rye had been sold out of American ports to Denmark. While these reports had no connection with local trade, it was believed Canadian rye was involved.

The closing prices: May up 6 at $3.43B; July up 1¾ $3.20¾B; October 2¼ to 2¾ higher $2.36¾B; December up 2¼ $2.25½B.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, (AP) — Corn spurted more than three cents at times on the board of trade Wednesday. Wheat and oats were firm most of the session, although not showing gains as wide as corn. A car of No. 1 Northern spring wheat sold here at $2.63, equal to the May future price at the time of sale.

Wheat closed 1 to 2 cents higher, corn was 1⅜-4¼ higher, and oats ⅝-1⅝ higher.

BARLEY FOR ENGLAND

WINNIPEG, (CP)—England needs a barley which will ripen earlier and extend her harvesting season, since a 100-percent increase in cereal acreage means "we will have twice the-stuff to deal with at harvesting time," Dr. Herbert Hunter, breeder of a variety of barley known as Spratt-Archer, said.

Dr. Hunter produced the Spratt-Archer type when he was a barley breeder at Cambridge. It has been used since 1914, and is noted for its high-yielding content, good standing straw under wet conditions and high malting quality.

He said farm modernization in England and introduction of the combine harvester will call for a short straw in barley.

Seeding of spring wheat has been reported from scattered points in Western Canada, but it will be from one to two weeks before seeding becomes general.

Robert S. Bridge, general works manager, Ford of Canada, who was elected as director by the shareholders last week. He had held a number of major auto production posts in Detroit before coming to Windsor nine years ago with Chrysler of which Canadian corporation he became vice-president and general works manager before moving to Ford last August. Gregory Kew, treasurer, was also named director of Ford.

TOO MUCH

After inspecting the whole stock of suitcases the customer shook his head.

"I want a really good case for a long holiday in the country," he said. "I want to see some real cowhide in it."

"Sorry, sir," replied the assistant dejectedly, "but I'm afraid we haven't one big enough for that."

Romania's sugar shortage is acute.

Factory Outputs Above Pre-War

There has been a marked upturn in production of a wide variety of metal products including some of the larger types of consumers' durable goods, says the monthly review of the Bank of Nova Scotia. Prior to the strikes, the monthly rate of output of passenger cars, electric washing machines and refrigerators, and radios had substantially exceeded the 1939 average. The post-strike upturn has brought the rate of output above these levels and, except in the case of automobiles, above the averages for previous peak years as well.

February production of electric refrigerators amounted to 8,272 units compared with an average for the record year 1941 of 5,341 units. That of electric washing machines, at 13,287 units, exceeded the average for the peak year 1937 by roughly 40 percent, and producers' sales of radios, which total led 66,041 units in January, were more than 80 percent above the peak 1940 average. February passenger car output showed a further substantial increase to 13,550 — a rate exceeded only in the late 'twenties.

Offer New Leaflet Use of Fertilizers

The provincial advisory fertilizer committee of the provincial department of agriculture has drafted a new leaflet covering the "Use of Fertilizers in Alberta." It deals with all sorts, such as green manure, legumes, barnyard manure and the various types of commercial fertilizers.

Tables of analysis, values in plant food, market costs and rates of application have been set up. Paragraphs deal with various kinds of soil, corrective measures and effects on soil and crops, as well as fertilizer machinery, and some of the test results.

Covers picture a map of the soil zones and contrasts of fertilized and unfertilized growing crops.

EXPECTS COPPER TO HOLD

NEW YORK, (AP)—E. T. Stannard, president of Kennecott Copper Corporation, said a balance would be struck between domestic consumption of copper and available supplies by the end of 1947. Speaking at the annual stockholders meeting, he said he expected the domestic price of 21½ cents a pound would hold over the remainder of the year.

New Sheep Tick Control Effective

A new, effective, and simple method of ked, or sheep tick, control has been developed at the dominion experimental station, Lethbridge. A power sprayer, such as that used for warble fly control, has been used for applying the dip mixture. The sprayer generates 400 pounds pressure and no modifications from warble fly equipment is required though a boom with three nozzles instead of the single nozzle gun, speeds up the work. For treatment the sheep are crowded into a pen not over six feet wide and the spray is applied from above them. If the fleeces are well saturated and the sheep are crowded together, the liquid will seep down the sides and on to the bellies.

It is recommended that spraying take place two to three weeks after shearing as at this time the dip can be applied safely, there is enough wool to hold the liquid, and not enough wool to require excessive amounts.

Standard commercial dipping preparations have been used successfully and DDT at a concentration of ½-of-1 percent has been tried and found to be very effective. At present prices the DDT is more expensive than standard commercial preparations. DDT in oil should never be used for spraying but the wettable types that can be mixed with water are very satisfactory. The amount of liquid required is about the same as that used for dipping.

The United Kingdom, according to recent reports, is attempting to purchase wheat from Russia in order to ease the country's bread ration.

Herd of Holsteins Fetches $152,000

The internationally famous Holstein herd of Martin D. Buth and Sons, built largely on Canadian blood lines, brought a total of $152,425, when it was dispersed April 28. Eighty-six head sold averaged $1,772. The highest price paid was $19,500 for the two-year-old junior herd sire Creston Twenty Grand. The buyer was Hickory Creek Farm, McHenry, Ill. The sire and dam of this bull were both bred at Mt. Victoria Farms Hudson Heights, Que., the dam being the famous Montvic Bonheur Pietje B. who sold for $21,000 two years ago.

The top price for a female was $8,700 received from Jos. Canby, Langhorne, Pa., for the 12-year-old Dunloggin Mistress Queen. This famous animal proved a good investment for the Buths when they bought her at top price, top of the Dunloggin dispersal in 1943, for they have sold three of her progeny for a total of $29,600, which plus the 8,700, gives them a return of $38,-300 on their original investment of $10,100.
